ASSAILANT WOUNDED

Hope Given Up for Life of Bolshevik Leader After Cranial Operation.

BULLETIN

NEW YORK — (INS) — In response to an urgent request from Mexico City, Dr. Walter Dandy, director of the bureau of surgery of Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore, today prepared to fly to the bedside of Leon Trotsky to aid in the life and death battle of the Russian exile.

(By International News Service)

MEXICO CITY — His life virtually despaired of, Leon Trotsky, 60-year-old Bolshevik and one of the founders of the Soviet Union, appeared to be sinking fast today after a mysterious attack at his Coyoacan home by an equally mysterious assailant.

The fiery Bolshevik's head was torn through to the brain by two blows from an Alpine pick which the assailant, presumably a welcome guest in Trotsky's home, had concealed in his clothing.

After a night-long investigation, mystery today still shrouded actual identity of the would-be killer.

Seized immediately after the attack, the assailant was taken to police headquarters. During questioning, he gave six different names—Jacques Moonard Van Den Dessh, Jacques Morton, Jacques Mortan, Frankie Johnson, Frank Jackson and Jacques Monrod.

Col. Leandro Sanchez Salazar, chief of the detective bureau, said he was convinced the man's real name is Monrod, that he is a Belgian and that he came to this country as an agent of the GPU, the Soviet secret police.

It was learned that Monrod was introduced to Trotsky by a woman whose name was withheld. The Bolshevik leader apparently took a liking to him and welcomed him into his home.

This morning a medical bulletin said that Trotsky was unconscious and breathing faintly. His condition was described as "very grave."

ON WAY TO PEN FOR LIFE SOON

Prisoner Finally Enters Guilty Plea in Slaying, After Momentary Delay.

Albert Davis, 35, colored, was to be taken to Ohio penitentiary today to begin the life sentence imposed on him yesterday by Judge C. H. Huston, after Davis had pleaded guilty to second degree murder.

Davis was accused of fatally stabbing Mrs. Lena Morton, also colored, in her room on North Mulberry street on June 18.

Davis was first held on a first degree murder charge, but Prosecutor Glenn Marriott reduced the charge after Davis pleaded innocent. Marriott said he was not sure that there was evidence to prove premeditation, a factor necessary for a first degree conviction.

Represented by Atty. C. F. Creedman who was appointed by the court, Davis was scheduled to change his plea Monday, but the hearing was postponed when he asked for more time. Davis' guilty plea saved the county the cost of a trial.

A life sentence is mandatory under a second degree murder conviction or plea. The sheriff has five days in which to take his prisoner to the Columbus penal institution.

Thief Must Have Been Husky--Takes 60-Pound Machine

A shoplifer who didn't mind carrying big packages tucked an electric adding machine under his arm yesterday at the Charles Ritter store and walked out with it, according to a report made to police today by store officials.

The adding machine, valued at $240, was near the Walnut street entrance of the store all day yesterday and was missed last night when the store was closed.

No one in the store saw the shoplifter, according to Earl Kochheiser, secretary-treasurer of the company. The machine weighed approximately 60 pounds, and could have been picked up while clerks were at the front of the store.

Probably no one who saw the shoplifter leave the store would have questioned him, Kochheiser said, since it is not unusual to see persons carrying a typewriter or adding machine in or out of the place.

This is the third adding machine that has been stolen from the store in less than a year, he said.

WEALTH DRAFT DEBATE TAKES SENATE'S TIME

Agitation for Drafting of All Resources Changes Service Argument.

DEFENSE DRAG CITED

House Considering Broader Man-Power Bracket Than Senate Proposes.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Demands that wealth and industry, like manpower, be conscripted for national defense shifted senate debate into new channels today on the subject of compulsory military service.

The agitation for a "total" draft of the country's financial, economic and human resources developed after disclosures that the armed services were finding it difficult to obtain defense necessities because of existing tax-profits law, and the higher bids of Great Britain for war material.

There was a prospect of even further complications on the contentious conscription issue, for house military committee members indicated that they were ready to give formal final approval to compulsory service legislation covering a much broader manpower bracket than present senate proposals contemplate.

The Burke-Wadsworth compulsory service bill, as amended by the senate, would limit registration and possible service to men from 21 years of age through 30.

The house version, tentatively approved yesterday by the military committee, follows the original Burke-Wadsworth plan—registration of all men between 18 and 65, with active service limited to those between 21 and 45.

The move to link conscription of wealth and industry with a draft started yesterday after publication of the testimony by high army and navy officials before the senate appropriations committee on difficulties besetting the placing of government orders for planes, guns and warship materials.

Senator Lee (D-Okla) asked for

COUNTING UP

Kolb Expects Tax Payment to Exceed $600,000.

Although county tax collections went into a tailspin during the final two days of the payment period, County Treasurer John E. Kolb predicted today that receipts will be well ahead of last year.

When the collection period closed last night, the treasurer had collected $535,055, including $21,818 yesterday. On the same date last year collections amounted to $456,000.

Kolb said he has not had reports yet from a number of collectors in Shelby and other county towns and hundreds of payments by mail have not been totaled.

By the end of this week, total receipts are expected to exceed $600,000 and during the next two or three weeks late payments probably will add more to that figure, it was said.

ROAD COST

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The state highway department says it would cost Ohio $24,000,000 more to make its military roads fit federal requirements. The total cost would be in addition to $23,000,000 in improvements now being made, Ohio.

RECOVER LOOT IN 3 ROBBERIES

Police Continue Questioning of Suspect, Hold Up Filing of Charge.

Police today had recovered a number of articles which have been stolen in a series of window-smashing robberies in the past few weeks, from a suspect arrested yesterday in connection with the breaking of the window in the Orr Typewriter company office.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates said officers had found in the man's home a radio stolen recently when a brick was thrown through the window of the Jones Furniture company on Park avenue west, a few doors west of the Orr company.

The suspect, a 21-year-old Mansfield youth, admitted, Bates said, the smashing of the Jones window as well as windows of the Shaw Jewelry company and the Safety Service Center on North Franklin street. A wrist watch taken from the jewelry store was found in his possession and a portable radio taken from the Service Center was located in the home of a girl friend, police said.

Bates said that while the youth admitted the robberies in which part of the loot has been recovered, he denied breaking the Orr window either Tuesday morning or the two previous times it has been broken. Typewriters were stolen on all three occasions.

Two police officers were watching the Orr window all night Monday night and Tuesday morning, from the parked cruiser in a driveway opposite the Ohio theater building in which the typewriter

HEAD OF EAGLES COMES TO CITY

National Leader Pays Mansfield Aerie Visit Tonight.

The Mansfield Eagles lodge will be host tonight to Charles McCann of Newark, N. J., recently elected grand worthy president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, who will pay the city an unexpected visit.

A. J. Eglesberg, secretary of the Mansfield lodge, said McCann will attend a regular meeting of the Mansfield aerie at the Eagles hall.

McCann was chosen at the recent national Eagles convention in Chicago to head the lodge, succeeding John Abel of Marion, Ohio.

So You Were Cold? Why Not, Mercury Went Down to 38

Mansfielders who sweltered in 90-degree weather four days ago got a taste of what's ahead (far ahead, we hope) today when the mercury dropped to 38 degrees, second lowest August reading in the past 15 years.

Extra blankets and heavier clothing came into sudden popularity as chilly northern breezes pulled the temperature down to autumn levels.

While Otto Sprunger, official weather observer, said readings in the 40's are not uncommon here in August, the mercury rarely falls below 40.

The only other time in the last 15 years when it was colder in August was on the 30th of the month six years ago when a reading of 37 was recorded.

The weatherman forecast fair and slightly warmer weather tonight and partly cloudy and warmer Thursday.

The reading at noon today was 72.

DOBRUJA CEDED

Report Rumania Gives In To Demands of Bulgaria.

LONDON —(AP)— Reuters (British) news agency reported from Bucharest today that Rumania has agreed definitely to cede Southern Dobruja to Bulagria, returning their frontier to that of 1921.

Rumania cedes to Bulgaria the provinces of Durastor and Cahacia the provinces to be occupied within three hours after the agreement is signed formally, Reuters said.

Bulgarian troops already are near the Dobruja frontier ready to occupy the new territory.

Bulgaria will get a strip of land slightly more than 40 miles wide, including the cities of Silistra and Balcic, which Rumania had insisted on retaining.

DESTROYER AID BEING STUDIED

Cabinet Members and Chiefs of Armed Forces Meet For Conference.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Four cabinet members and chiefs of the armed services met today in a conference believed to concern proposals for making U. S. naval destroyers available to Great Britain.

Participants in the meeting were Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles, Secretary of Navy Frank Knox, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, Chief of Army Staff George C. Marshall, and Chief of Naval Operations Harold R. Stark.

The conference was held at the justice department, where attorneys recently have been busily studying legal questions involved in the proposal to sell, trade and otherwise make available destroyers—perhaps 50 or more— to Britain. Jackson interrupted his vacation in upstate New York to come to Washington for the meeting.

Great Britain's request for American destroyers to make up for war losses in her own fleet has been strongly supported by General John J. Pershing, Ambassador William C. Bullitt and others. It has been denounced with equal vigor by Sen. Burton K. Wheeler.

Believe Refugee Ship Safely Past Danger of Mines

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Officials believed today that the army transport, American Legion, with 897 war refugees, had passed safely through the mine infested waters off the north coast of Scotland.

Unofficial calculations indicated that the American Legion, bound for New York from Petsamo, Finland, had passed Cape Wrath, Scotland, yesterday.

Her plight resulted from the mine fields of the belligerents which now blanket the north Atlantic from Iceland to Scotland.

On her special voyage to Petsamo to pick up Americans stranded in the Scandinavian countries, she had skirted the British mine fields. Both Great Britain and Germany had given her safe conduct. After she had passed, the British extended their mine field several hundred miles further south and notified all countries. This left a small strip of water off Cape Wrath, Scotland the only "hole" through the mine field and the American Legion's homeward course was changed accordingly.

Fascists Mass Mobile Troops Along Frontier

Tension Reported Greater Than at Any Time Since Sinking of Greek Ship By Submarine; Italy Claims Penninsula for Albania.

(By United Press)

ATHENS—Italian mobile divisions today were concentrating on the Albania-Greek frontier, reliable reports said, and it was apparent here that Italo-Greek tension was increasing.

Reliable reports said that an Italian plane had made a forced landing at Eleuis, 15 miles west of Athens and site of Greece's largest munitions plant. The crew of five was interned, bringing to 27 the number of Italian airmen interned in Greece.

A military spokesman said that Greek defenses on the Albanian frontier were adequate and there were no indications that any Greek mobilization was imminent, but it was learned reliably that Premier John Metaxas had conferred with the general staff yesterday following a discussion with King George II.

Observers said that tension was greater than at any time since last week's sinking of the Greek mine laying cruiser Helle by an unidentified submarine off the island of Tinos.

Metaxas was said to have told the general staff that Greece desired to continue a policy of neutrality but was prepared to oppose any internal or external political opposition.

(In Rome Virginio Gayda, writing in the authoritative Giornale D'Italia, said that "there is an acute open problem in relations between Italy, Albania and Greece." He added that "Italy is ready to defend Albanian national rights." Gayda also said that the Greek Ciamuria peninsula is Albanian and "rightly belongs" to Albania.

(Of the Italo-Albanian-Greek situation Gayda said that "we won't liquidate the affair with a gay smile. Italian policy does not seek adventure but is ready to defend Albanian national rights and a Balkan order based on justice.")

Reliable reports said that in addition to concentrating mobile forces on the Albanian frontier Italy was moving Albanian troops southward from northern Albania.

Imminent Italian Action Hinted

ROME —(INS)— A hint of imminent Italian action against Greece was given today by Virginio Gayda, authoritative Italian spokesman.

Writing in the Giornale D'Italia, Gayda said:

"Italy, acting for Albania, has a right to demand clarification of the position not only of Ciamurria but part of Janina.

(Editor note: Both are provinces of Greece which before 1913 were in Albanian territory.)

"The status of these areas constitutes a divergency between Italy and Greece which calls for

HIT-SKIP: Nazi Air Raids Drop Plan of Mass Attacks

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—Unofficial but well-informed sources indicated today that the British government is seeking a military alliance with the United States. Canadian-American discussions on mutual defense are considered in these quarters to be the opening wedge in a British effort to obtain a full military accord between the United States and Britain.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—Informed political quarters predicted today there would be a British cabinet change shortly after the fortnight's adjournment of parliament starting tomorrow. Retirement of Neville Chamberlain, lord president of council, and replacement of Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax are mentioned.

(By Associated Press)

Hitler's sky raiders, attempting to elude the defense of RAF fighter planes, shifted from mass onslaughts to an apparently new style of "hit and run" tactics today in widespread sorties over England and Wales.

British experts said the new mode of attack, by lone raiders or small groups, probably was designed to avoid the heavy losses suffered by the Germans recently in hurling great aerial armadas at the island kingdom.

Air Secretary Sir Archibald Sinclair told the house of commons only last night that since Aug. 8 the Germans had lost 701 aircraft and 1,500 fliers.

Masses of planes flying in close formation, the British said make "perfect" targets for anti-aircraft guns and pursuit ships.

Numbers of single German raiders were reported today over England's great industrial Midlands, on the southeast coast, Welsh coast and northeast England.

Britons hailed the Nazi change in tactics as signifying the defeat of mass-attack methods which in recent weeks brought giant waves of planes hurtling over England—as many as 2,500 in a single day.

Nazis in Berlin, however, asserted that the slackening of German aerial assaults was due to bad

PREPARED: U. S. Has Plans Set for New Defense Bases

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The United States has plans ready, it was learned today, for quick establishment of new naval and air bases to close vital gaps in hemisphere defenses as soon as negotiations are completed for leases of strategic British territory.

President Roosevelt was expected to press the detailed negotiations following the announcement of Lord Halifax, British foreign secretary, that agreement in principle already had been reached for 99-year leases of military sites stretching from Newfoundland to the Caribbean approach to the Panama canal.

Army and navy authorities were understood to have plans ready for beginning work on the new bases as soon as the sites are available.

Mr. Roosevelt, who announced last week that negotiations were in progress, apparently planned to follow a precedent established by President Theodore Roosevelt and acquire the bases by executive action rather than by formal treaty which would require senate ratification.

The site for the American naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba, was acquired by Theodore Roosevelt in 1903 at an annual rental of $2,000 through executive action alone. Cuba retained sovereignty over the territory but the United States gained complete control of the naval base area.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill, in announcing the British

GIRL SLAIN

Sex Maniac Sought for Murder Of Brooklyn Girl.

NEW YORK —(AP)— The burned and mutilated body of 19-year-old Frieda Olson, who gaily kissed her mother goodbye last night to keep a date with her boy friend, was found today in a lonely vacant lot in Brooklyn.

She had been murdered. Police said her slayer probably was a sex maniac who beat her to death with a blunt instrument in his car, then carried her body to the weed-covered lot and set her clothing afire.

GIRL DETAINED

Hitch-Hiker Uses State Lawn For Resting Place.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— A 15-year-old girl hitch-hiker who said her foster parents lived at Russell's Point, O., rested in the Columbus juvenile detention home today, suffering from exposure of sleeping in the open.

She said her name was Virginia Holmes. Authorities sought to locate the foster parents. The girl said she left home a week ago to hitch-hike to Florida. She had slept several nights on grounds of the state office building.

Two Girls, Two Boys Leave Homes in Mansfield.

Police were broadcasting descriptions today of two Mansfield girls and two boys who ran away yesterday, taking a car that didn't belong to them.

Joe Brizzi, 141 Columbia avenue, notified police that his stepdaughter, Rose Fava, 16, had left home during the night and had left a note saying she was running away. He said that her cousin, Rosie Vetrano, 15, of 223 North Franklin street, had gone with her.

Police investigation developed the possibility that the two girls might have left with two boys, John Bachman, 17, of 188½ North Main street, and Gene Duke, 16, 85½ Coul street. The boys, police said, took an automobile belonging to a friend. Police said they also learned that the Vetrano girl had taken a revolver from her home.

Parents of the boys and girl said they had no idea why they left nor where they had gone.

'I Guess He's My Brother,' Says Texan As He Sees Mansfielder After 51 Years

W. F. West Meets Member of Family He Can't Recall Having Seen.

There was a strange reunion at 34 West Temple court last night when William F. West, 54-year-old Mansfield plasterer, met his 70-year-old brother, Charles, whom he could not remember having seen before.

"The men just sort of cried," Mrs. West said today in describing the meeting.

Charles, who was adopted out of the family before his brother was born and who uses the surname of Kount, smilingly said:

"I guess he's my brother. He says he is, and his wife says he is, and that's good enough for me.

"You see, the only other time I ever saw him was once when he was three years old. Bill doesn't remember that. I was being raised by a family in Indiana and had gone home to see my relatives for a short visit.

"Naturally Bill has changed quite a lot in 51 years.

He used to write to me once in a while, and when I came up to Cleveland and Wadsworth this month to see some of the other members of the family I decided it was time Bill and I got better acquainted. It was odd having a brother who was only a name and baby-boy memory.

"Bill certainly was surprised when I walked up to the door and told him who I was.

Willkie Repeats Challenge to Roosevelt for Debate

PROMISES NOT TO WASTE ANY TIME FOR FDR

Declares Third-Term Seeker Has Double Obligation To Discuss Issues.

(By Associated Press)

RUSHVILLE, Ind. — Criticizing the administration defense program as "hopelessly inadequate, delayed, and improperly organized," Wendell L. Willkie suggested today that he and President Roosevelt debate the issue during one of the chief executive's visits to preparedness projects.

"Mr. Roosevelt should tell us how much (military equipment) is on hand, and how much on order," the Republican presidential nominee said in a statement.

Willkie's proposal followed a renewal of his invitation that his Democratic opponent meet him in "public discussion" on all campaign questions. The renewal was made at a press conference yesterday after Mr. Roosevelt had turned down the original challenge by saying conditions made it obvious he could not campaign.

Then Willkie issued the statement about defense as a supplement to his remarks to reporters.

"I think it would be an appropriate thing for Mr. Roosevelt and me to engage in a joint debate on defense during one of his visits to defense projects," said the statement.

"I think I can show conclusively that the administration defense program is hopelessly inadequate, delayed, and improperly organized."

A debate during a preparedness inspection trip, the nominee declared, "won't waste" any of the president's time.

"He probably would be making a speech anyway," Willkie added, "and it would just give me the privilage of making a speech at the same time, and then each could reply to the other."

Willkie plans to leave tonight or tomorrow for a week-end trip to New York. He had an appointment today with John Hamilton, executive director of the Republican national committee.

Declaring the "Democratic process basicly rests upon discussion," Willkie said:

"The president is running for a third term for president, and in view of the fact that this is a violation of a tradition of 150 years standing, it is my judgment that he is under a double obligation to discuss the issues, as well as the particular issue of a third term."

Asked his views on the new United States-Canadian defense board, Willkie declined immediate comment on the ground that "we ought to know more about what is involved."

President Ignores Challenges Issued By GOP Opponent

HYDE PARK — (INS)— Pointedly ignoring the campaign challenges of Wendell Willkie, President Roosevelt continued concentration today on national defense and the newly formed American-Canadian military alliance.

The grim business of directing the nation's preparedness program, said Mr. Roosevelt, will keep him off the stump. He indicated he would rest his third term candidacy in the hands of the electorate without making any active campaign tours.

Late today the president will leave his Hyde Park home for Washington. Tomorrow he will announce the names of the American section of the joint board of defense with Canada. He also will press the pending negotiations with London for acquisition of naval and air bases on British possessions stretching from Newfoundland to Trinidad.

Capt. Jesse Schwab doesn't mind having his name spelled incorrectly, but he doesn't go for the idea of anyone classing him as a female. Several weeks ago Schwab went to the health department, got a certified copy (they cost 50 cents) of his birth certificate and sent it to Washington to the federal communications commission with the renewal application for his radio license. Yesterday the certificate was returned, asking for a correction in spelling of his first name and changing his classification to male. How did FCC officials know the correct answer? —because he had his photograph attached.

But it's not the sportsmanship of the thief, because whoever took the car drove it onto a back road in Weller township and abandoned it with all the windows open. Coonhunters M. F. At least one Mansfield fisherman can't blame his red face entirely on the cold winds that have been whipping across Lake Erie. After carefully packing his rods and reels, his outboard motor, and the rest of his paraphernalia, Earl Pollock had his wife, Mary, drive him to Catawba Island to catch the boat for Put-In Bay and a week's fishing. When he crossed over to the Bay and started to register in the hotel there he found he had forgotten the most important item—his clothes. An SOS call back to Mansfield brought action, but the report is he put in a very chilly 12 hours.

John A. Eisaman, Mansfield attendance officer, got to ride on the new super highway in Pennsylvania the other day, but he ran into trouble with a traffic officer before he finished his trip. Eisaman drove onto the new unfinished road while the officers weren't looking and was going along at a nice clip when an officer flagged him down. Asked how he got on the new road, Eisaman explained that he was headed for home in Ohio and thought the nice, new highway would be a shortcut back. "Go back where you drove onto it and try again, but make it another route the next time," the burly cop told him. But Eisaman thinks it was worth it anyway.

OFF TO CAMP

50 'Y' Boys Make Final Visit to Grounds Tomorrow.

As a climax to the Y. M. C. A. summer program, more than 50 boys are expected to leave Mansfield tomorrow afternoon for a final visit to the "Y" day camp on Home road.

The boys will leave the Y. M. C. A. at 3 p. m. and will pitch tents upon their arrival, according to Don Cram, Y. M. C. A. physical director.

After dinner at 5:30 p. m., the boys will be taken on a nature study hike by Lloyd Barr, a member of the Mansfield Nature club. The remainder of the evening will be spent around the campfire.

The boys will return to Mansfield Friday. R. B. Chapman, Y. M. C. A. general secretary, Cram, and WPA recreational leaders will accompany the group.

CITY HALL GETS SET FOR PICNIC

Chairman Hughes Sets Date and Hints at Possibility of a Ball Game (?).

Thursday, Sept. 18 is a Red letter day and they're marking it on the calendars at City hall.

Its the day set for the big frolic —the city employes picnic, to be held at North Lake park.

General Chairman Ralph A. Hughes said today the committee had selected the date set as the most favorable for all city workers.

Comittees to work out details for the frolic will be selected within the next week by the committee, Hughes said.

It is expected that there will be a program of events preceding an evening dinner, the feature being a ball game between two picked teams, Hughes added.

There has been some talk about a contest between firemen and policemen, although it has been suggested that should councilmen muster enough courage they might tackle one or the other in a three inning event.

Assisting Hughes in arranging for the affair are Detective Lee J. Remy, Council Clerk William J. Beer, jr., Capt. Paul Young of the fire department, and Marjorie Palmer, head of the visiting nurses association.

SENATE RIVALS PLAN DEBATES

Burton and McSweeney Agree to Public Arguments.

COLUMBUS —(UP)— Plans for an abbreviated repetition of the senatorial campaign debates held in 1938 enlivened the political battle between Mayor Harold H. Burton, Cleveland, Republican, and Rep. John McSweeney, Wooster Democrat, for election as U. S. senator from Ohio.

Burton has notified his rival that he will debate him Oct. 29 before the Franklin county league of women voters at Columbus and later before the City club in Cleveland.

AUTO SALES LEAD AGAIN AS BUSINESS CONTINUES TO GAIN

Paced by a 49.6 per cent gain in automobile sales, Mansfield business indices, with two exceptions, showed substantial gains during the first seven months of this year, the Chamber of Commerce monthly business review disclosed today.

Only building valuations and postal receipts were off, the former showing a 38.5 per cent decrease and the latter a 7.4 per cent loss for the seven-month period.

Building valuations totaled $996,546 this year as compared with $1,642,754 in 1939, the difference due to a $1,000,000 school building program, of last year.

Postal receipts slid from $232,174 last year to $215,085 during the first seven months this year.

The chamber's report showed a total of 2,173 new automobiles sold so far this year as compared with 1,352 during the corresponding period in 1939.

Bank clearing hopped up 8.7 per cent, clearings totaling more than $53,000,000 this year as against $49,000,000 during the same period in 1939.

The Mansfield Rapid Transit company reported a total of 1,186,134 paid passengers carried during the seven-month period, an increase of 15 per cent over the 1,030,025 passengers carried in the same period last year.

The employment picture looked somewhat brighter than it has for months with a total of 11,290 persons reported on industrial and mercantile payrolls in Mansfield on July 31, as compared with 10,600 last year at the same time.

Industrial payrolls were up 8.3 per cent and mercantile payrolls showed a 3.4 per cent gain.

Prepaid sales tax receipts, a reliable barometer for retail business shot up 16. per cent during the first seven months. Receipts totaled $324,412 this year as against $279,742 last year.

Carloadings showed a 15.1 per cent gain, a total of 24,665 cars loaded or unloaded in Mansfield in 1940. The 1939 figure was 21,318.

MISHAP ON SPAN

Driver Says Bridge Collapsed; Patrol Investigating.

Mansfield State Highway patrolmen were investigating an accident in which a woman claimed that a bridge she was crossing in her car on route 302, one mile west of Nankin, went down when she reached the middle of the span.

The woman, Miss Ternilla Reichert, 27, of Shiloh, told Ashland State Highway department that she had not struck the bridge before crossing, acording to Murray Shaffer, state highway engineer. Miss Reichert was uninjured.

According to witnesses, the automobile driven by Miss Reichert, hung to the side of the bridge. No other car was involved in the accident.

Patrolmen were still investigating at noon today.

OLD AGE PLAN SEEN FEATURE OF PLATFORM

Republicans Likely to Stay on Economy Road Set By Bricker.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—A guarantee to old-age pensioners of an income of $40 a month is expected to be the high point of the Democratic state platform when it is written here Sept. 6 and 7.

The Republican platform, scheduled for completion a few days later, is expected to be a virtual reiteration of the one of two years ago, with pledges to enact legislation to continue its successful operation.

Gov. John W. Bricker claims economy and governmental efficiency, one of the chief pledges under which his administration has been operating, has been carried out. The new platform is expected to promise no letdown in that respect.

Former Gov. Martin L. Davey, who as the Democratic gubernatorial nominee is expected to dictate the platform, already has indicated it will promise the $40 income for pensioners.

In a letter to old age pensioners on Aug. 13 Davey told them he wanted the pension to be $40 a month minus any income. He also promised return of their property and insurance policies.

He had stressed these two points in a June 22 letter to Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow, sponsor of the $50 pension plan which was defeated by referendum. A copy of the Bigelow letter was inclosed with his message to pensioners promising the $40 income.

"I will guarantee to raise the old age pensions so that you can live as decent human beings," Davey wrote. "The essential points of the Bigelow letter will be incorporated in the Democratic platform so you will have double assurance of our faithful performance next year."

Inasmuch as Davey also has criticized severely the Bricker administration's school-financing policy it generally is anticipated the Democratic platform may promise changes in that respect.

Davey has declared Bricker looted the school foundation fund of $6,500,000, on hand when he retired from office, by turning it into the general revenue fund.

Under the Davey administration the schools received only revenues derived from earmarked, liquid fuel, cigaret, sales and intangible taxes. Bricker charged this method was responsible for an alleged $18,000,000 deficit in the school fund.

BOMB EXPLODES

Infernal Machine Goes Off Inside Mail Pouch.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — A bomb, concealed in a parcel post package, exploded in a district post office substation at 14th and U streets, N. W., today, slightly injuring two postal employes.

It went off inside a mail pouch.

Fragments found by postal inspectors indicated the infernal machine had been attached to a timing device. They believe the bomb-package had been mailed in the capital. The bits from the parcel were being placed together to find the name of the addressee.

Indians Trip Sox; Increase Loop Lead

Laurila Stars

Brave Hurler Fans 13 In Handing Fremont a 7-4 Beating.

ALL season the Mansfield Brave officials have been saying that George Laurila, tall righthander, was one of their best pitching prospects

But for some unknown reason George has had trouble getting started. That was until he stepped out on the hill against Fremont before a Directors' appreciation crowd of approximately 500 at the Fairground under the floodlights last night.

Striking out 13 batters and limiting the Green Sox to eight hits, George chalked up his eighth win of the season by registering a 7 to 4 triumph.

The Mansfield Braves pounded out 11 hits last night and went to work in the early innings to give George an advantage. Once he gained the lead he was effective with men on the paths.

Mansfield travels to Tiffin to tackle the Mudhens tonight and will return to play a doubleheader at the Fairground Thursday In the first setto, the Braves meet the Loudonville Indians and in the nightcap clash with the Mudhens. The opener will start at 7 p m.

Mansfield scored four runs in the initial frame last night, and added single tallies in the third fourth and fifth stanzas Meanwhile, Fremont scored twice in the second and two more in the fifth The Braves were never behind

Walt Missler, who is playing third base for the Braves, paced the club at the plate with a pair of doubles. Manager Dewey Stover and Hal Humdemer added a double and single apiece to the attack, while Howard Beals and Harry Siegbert collected two singles each.

* * *

Erne hit a home run for the Green Sox first run in the second inning. Laurila didn't allow a Fremont player to secure more than one hit

Ken Keltner Stars as Tribe Marks Up One-Sided 11-6 Victory.

(By Associated Press)

BOSTON — The scrappy Cleveland Indians were four and a half games in front of the pack today—the biggest lead any American club has enjoyed this season—because of the booming bat of Ken Keltner, and the New York Yankees

* * *

Keltner's war club put the finishing touch to the Indians' greatest rally of the year as they came far from behind yesterday for an 11 to 6 victory over the Red Sox. Since the Yanks were taking two games from Detroit, the Clevelands increased their lead by a game and a half.

The score was tied at 5-5 and the bases were clogged when Keltner homered in the eighth to give Bob Feller his 22nd victory and put the Indians ahead to stay

The Red Sox had taken a 5-2 lead off Feller before the eighth-inning outburst produced seven Cleveland runs. The Tribesmen hadn't been able to make more than one hit an inning off Jack Wilson, the Boston starter.

Clarence (Soup) Campbell batted for Rollie Hemsley and singled. Jeff Heath, hitting for Feller, homered and Ben Chapman singled. Emerson Dickman came in and induced Roy Weatherly to force Chapman, but Lou Boudreau singled and Hal Trosky walked to load the bases. Beau Bell singled another run home and the stage was set for Keltner's drive.

* * *

That evened the series and put it up to Mel Harder to hurl the rubber against Fritz Ostermueller.

Lose In Finals

Herman Softballers Bow to Lorain In District Tournament.

THE Sons of Herman can forget about winning the state softball championship this year.

Only one game away from the state tournament, the Hermans dropped a one-sided 9-2 decision to the Lorain American Legion team in the district finals at Elyria last night

A victory would have placed the Hermans in the state playoffs at Massillon this week-end, but the club's usually strong defense crumbled and it was all over.

With two regulars out of the lineup, the Hermans, who secured only one hit, held the Lorain team scoreless for two frames, but errors paved the way for two markers in the third Three bobbles in the fourth coupled with two hits gave the winners four markers and a 6 to 0 advantage

At this point the Hermans managed to dent the plate twice when Al Stickler hit a home run with Harold Geiger on base It was the only serious threat staged by the Hermans

Ed Hennich first baseman, and George Hummel, left fielder were out of the lineup Both are on vacation

After Lorain piled up its 6-0 lead Jimmy Fullager relieved Freddie Carver on the mound, but it didn't make any difference Lorain added a tally in the fifth and two more in the sixth to complete its scoring

It was the second defeat suffered by the Hermans in 23 contests this season Carver who was charged with the loss, also was beaten in the other setto.

The American Legion club pounded out 15 hits with Koba setting the pace with a double and two singles Carek added three singles to the total.

* * *

Last season the Hermans, under the DeLuxe Cab banner, reached the finals in the state classic. They lost to the Ferguson State Auditors by a 4 to 3 count

Reds, Indians Getting Ready To Clash In World Series

(By Associated Press)

A LOT of experting has been done to show how the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Detroit Tigers can win the big league pennants But the fact remains that Cincinnati and Cleveland still are getting ready to entertain the world series crowds.

* * *

The ability to win when a victory is most needed seems to be the strong point of both teams—and it was never better demonstrated than yesterday.

* * *

The Reds were faced with the red-hot (for a day) Giants and the Dodgers were willing—nay, anxious—to whittle the St Louis Cards down twice and thus get within 2½ games of the Rhinelanders But today's standings will show the Brooks are 5½ games back, thanks to the Reds' stirring finish over the Giants in a 3-2 thriller and the Brooks' double loss to the Cards, 3-0, and 4-3

After the Dodgers bowed to Clyde Shoun's six-hit pitching in the first game at St. Louis, Hugh Casey came apart at the seams and cost them the second game.

Claude Passeau racked up his 15th win of the season by pitching the Cubs to a 4-0 decision over the Phillies. He gave up only three hits Dick Lanahan wasn't quite as effective but he hurled the Pirates to a 6-3 decision over the Boston Bees to end a six-game losing streak.

The Yanks climbed into a fourth place tie with the Chicago White Sox by earning a doubleheader victory over the Detroit Tigers, 4-3 and 4-2. Old Charley Ruffing and young Ernie Bonham hurled a pair of very good games. That left the Tigers 4½ games back of the Indians.

The White Sox had trouble with the Athletics, winning the first game 6-1 with a five run rally in the ninth but losing the second 4-3 in the tenth when Wally Moses stole home with the winning run.

* * *

The Browns' Elden Auker submarined the Senators to a 6-3 defeat—the fifth straight setback for Washington.

Girls Invade Delaware for Tilt Tonight

Mansfield Merchants Meet Delaware Girls.

Fresh from a 4 to 2 victory over the Wilks Meats team of Columbus at Howard last night, the Mansfield Merchants girl's softball team will tackle the Delaware girl's team in a game at Delaware tonight.

Scoring three runs in the third inning, enough to win the game, the Merchants were never behind. They scored their final run in the fourth, while the Columbus aggregation put across one run each in the fourth and ninth innings.

Frances Clark was on the hill for the winners and set the Columbus team down with two hits, while the Merchants were collecting six safeties off the pitching of Hayman Holda led the batting attack for the Merchants collecting two of the six hits, one of them a triple.

The Merchants advanced to the finals of the state girls' softball tournament Sunday by defeating the Grafton Merchants 4 to 2 in a game played at Toledo. They will meet the Elyria Bittners in the finals Date and site of the championship game had not been set today

Hallabrin Among Veterans Returning to Ohio State

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— The postman banged on the door with a pigskin this morning and delivered the hot-off-the-press 1940 edition of the Ohio State football roster

With the opening of Big Ten fall practice on Sept. 10 less than three weeks hence, the neat little scarlet and gray manual disclosed that 68 young men have been invited ot participate in gridiron classes at Ohio State.

The list includes 21 lettermen and seven regulars from last year's Buckeye team that won the conference title and lost only two out of eight games. Thirteen lettermen are lost from last year including Captain Steve Andrako, center, Vic Marino guard, Frank Zadworney, half-back, and Esco Sarkkinen, All-American end, all starters

Captain-Elect Jim Langhurst, fullback from Willard, heads the troupe of veterans reporting for Coach Francis Schmidt's seventh season at the Buckeye helm

Other monogram wearers scheduled to report are Charles Anderson, end, Massillon; Frank Clair, end, Hamilton; Jim Daniell, fackle, Pittsburgh; Thornton Dixon, tackle, Toledo; Dick Fisher, halfback, Columbiana, Jack Graf, quarterback, Upper Arlington; John Hallabrin, fullback, Mansfield, Fritz Howard, guard, Toledo; Tom Kinkade, halfback, Toronto; Charley Maag, tackle Sandusky; Joe Madro, guard Wellington; Bill Nosker, guard, Upper Arlington.

Jim Piccinini, tackle, Cleveland; Andy Rosen, guard, Isabell Pa., Don Scott, quarterback, Canton Jim Sexton, quarterback, Middletown; John Simione, quarterback, Youngstown, Jack Stephenson, tackle, Marion, Jim Strausbaugh, halfback, Chillicothe, and Leonard Thom guard Sandusky.

In his six past seasons at Ohio State Schmidt has won 35 games, lost 12 and tied one.

The 1940 schedule opens Sept 28 with Pittsburgh at Columbus. The rest of the card: Oct 5, Purdue at Columbus; Oct 12, Northwestern at Evanston; Oct. 19 Minnesota at Columbus; Oct. 26, Cornell at Ithaca; Nov. 2 Indiana at Columbus; Nov. 16, Illinois at Urbana; Nov 23, Michigan at Columbus

Michigan will be homecoming, Indiana will be Dad's day and Purdue and Indiana will be high school days. Prices for home games will be $2.50 and $3 for reserved seats; $3.50 to $4 for boxes and 75 cents and $2 for the south stands.

* * *

The higher prices will prevail for the Minnesota and Michigan contests. General admission seats at $1.10 are offered for the Pittsburgh, Purdue and Indiana games.

Cardinals Assist Reds

St. Louis Beats Dodgers While Cincy Wins.

CINCINNATI — (AP) — There were none to say today that the league leading Cincinnati Reds don't live right as they moved into the playoff encounter of a series with the Giants five and one-half games ahead of the second place Dodgers.

Hurler Whitey Moore was to carry on against Hal Schumacher.

The Rhinelanders have the Cardinals to thank for their gain of a game and a half yesterday. St. Louis slapped a twin defeat on the ambitious Dodgers while the Reds pulled a 3-2 thriller out of the fire with the Giants.

Said Warren C. Giles, general manager of the Cincinnati baseball club:

'I'm not saying that they (the Reds) will have the pennant cinched, but the next ten days should put them safely over the hump. . . . and the Reds always play better at home."

(Counting today Cincinnati has 17 more home games before taking to the road again.)

The Reds grabbed yesterday's victory in the ninth inning. Lew Riggs doubled but Lee Gamble, batting for Junior Thompson, popped out and Bill Werber bounced out. Here Lonnie Frey cracked out a single to score Riggs. Ival Goodman doubled, sending Frey to third, and Frank McCormick singled to score Frey and Goodman.

Thompson gave up seven hits.

the 16 matches scheduled were postponed.

The Richland Printers, last year's champions, finished in the runner-up berth this season. The Printers, playing only two setos, were held to a 1-all tie by the Oak's club.

Three other teams have a chance of copping the third place post. They are Sloan's Drugs, Mansfield Athletic Supply and the Tires. Sloan's lost a 2 to 0 decision to the Athletic Supply outfit, while the Tires lost to the new champions.

Sloan's Drugs hold third by a two-point margin over the Athletic Supplies and the Barnes and Schmid outfit is two markers behind in fifth place. The third position club has three postponed matches to play, while the Supplies have four and the Tires 10.

* * *

Joe Mayer walked off with the season's low individual mark with a 36 minus total. Pete Lanster won the low individual match record with a five-under-par 31.

Here No More

Because of his early season belligerency, Ted Williams, above, youthful Boston Red Sox slugger, is getting booed these days by Boston fans even when he comes through with his celebrated long hits.

Schoolmasters Win Over JAC Outfit

Pounding out 15 hits, the Schoolmasters softball team trounced the Junior Association of Commerce nine, 13 to 6 in a Y. M. C. A. Club league game played yesterday at the Maple Lake diamond.

The Schoolmasters' batting attack was led by Boling who collected four hits in four times at bat, one a triple and one a home run, and Freehafer who hit safely three times in four trips to the plate. Freehafer also hit a triple. Rose for the J. A. C.'s also hit for the circuit.

Determined to put away the game in early innings, the Schoolmasters scored eight times in the second inning. They pushed across another run in the third, and four more in the seventh.

PAVONIA TIGERS WIN

The Pavonia Tigers battled 12 innings to nose out the Mansfield Pirates 13 to 12 in a softball game played yesterday at the Union high school diamond. Bob Schnug was the winning pitcher and Wesley Boals the loser.

Vander Meer Headed Right

Ex-Big League Southpaw Is Regaining Control.

(By Associated Press)

Johnny Vander Meer, the latest ex-big league star to hit the comeback trail in the minors, is headed in the right direction, but he still lacks the control necessary to win in the major leagues.

The former Cincinnati head liner has been winning regularly in the American association, but is doing it the hard way. Last night he held Milwaukee to seven hits and blanked them, 8 to 0, but walked nine batters.

The Indians were just as stingy in the second game, Red Barrett whitewashing the Brewers again, 4-0, on four hits in seven innings.

Minneapolis likewise swept a night doubleheader with Toledo, 10 to 4, in the seven-inning first game and 3 to 2 in the second game which was cut to six innings by the midnight curfew.

Johnny Lindell pitched Kansas City to a 5 to 2 victory over Louisville.

Columbus trampled St. Paul again, 18 to 4, after the Saints had built up a 4-1 margin in the first five innings. Six runs in the last of the fifth put the Birds ahead and they followed with 11 more in the next three frames.

Heroes and Goats

(By International News Service)

HEROES—Frank McCormick, Reds whose ninth inning single scored the tying and winning runs as Cincinnati defeated the Giants; Wally Moses, Athletics, who stole home in the tenth inning with the winning run

GOATS—Hugh Casey, Dodgers who walked in the winning run in the second game of a doubleheader with the Cardinals; Bill Lohrman, who blew up after two men were out in the ninth to allow the Reds to score three runs and win the game

TEEN AGE GIRL DEMANDS CHIC, SOLID CLOTHES

'Wacky' Whims Apply Only to Gadgets That Can Give Popularity.

As quickly as the American girl reaches teen age, she becomes a self reliant individual, devoted to social interests and sport activities which formulate her life-pattern through high school and college.

Because from teens to twenties the girl does essentially similar things and is seen at the same places, she looks to her college sister to set the pace in school fashions.

Mothers charting the course of their school daughters' back-to-school purchases will include clothes so basically smart, so classic in design, so practical in use and easy to care for—that they will assure the girl a wardrobe adequate for the many roles she must play.

Parents may think some of daughter's fashion whims a bit "whacky" at times, but analysis will show that faddism is only shown for the little things—the accessory gadgets which though not expensive, can be responsible for a girl's popularity. A flair for the amusing helps a girl win friends and influence style trends on her campus—than which no achievement is more thrilling!

Thoroughly practical are the single garments which lend themselves to being worn more than one way: "Combines" rank high in college and high school popularity. Well fitting skirts, faultlessly tailored slacks, launderable blouses and simple sweaters make up the major daytime wardrobe. Colder days will see colorful snowpants romping over campus and stemming down ski slides.

Over these casual clothes are worn either fitted suit jackets, brief "loafer" coats in boxy silhouette, or lumberjackets.

The jacket suit is, still, the hub of every school girl's wardrobe and this year sees it a duplicate of the college boy's jacket from notched lapels to longer length and English drape waistline. In glen-urquhart plaid, herringbone or monotone shetland, covert or other popular men's wear woolens, it will travel to and from school and college, go week ending, and fit under a coat for football games and all-round wear through the winter.

NYA TRAINING WOODS FIREMEN

Oregon Forests Protected By Highly-Trained Group of Smoke Eaters.

CORVALLIS, Ore.—(AP)—Organization of a highly-trained group of fire fighters to battle conflagrations in Oregon forests this summer has been announced by E. G. Mason, assistant forestry dean, Oregon State College, who calls it a "city fire department adapted to forest fire purposes."

The service is established at the Peavy arboretum, just north of Corvallis, at a National Youth Administration camp where 75 students in the school of forestry at Oregon State College receive special training in fighting forest fires.

The men are in charge of George H. Schroeder, assistant professor of forestry, who is considered the best qualified specialist in forest fire fighting in any forestry school in the United States.

The NYA pays the men $30 a month while they are in camp. From this the students will pay their own board. Camping facilities have been provided by the Oregon Forest Fire Association, which is one of the sponsors of the project.

The men are available for fire fighting service in units of five men. Buses are available to take them to fires throughout western Oregon and even in parts of eastern Oregon, if desirable.

While on actual fire duty, they receive regular fire fighters' wages. When they return to camp, they work in the McDonald experimental forest and study fire fighting.

Besides affording opportunity for summer employment for students, the plan provides men with additional training for their professional careers in forestry work, and affords a nucleus of trained fire fighters for emergency call.

Sponsors are the Oregon Forest Fires Association, Pacific Northwest Forest Experiment Station, the U. S. Forest Service and the O. & C. Land Administration.

BOYS WANT OWN STYLE CLOTHES

Merchants Give Hints About Basic Garments For Good Wardrobe.

The time has passed, when the school boy wanted to "dress like Dad." Today, he wants to dress like his college brother, because campus styles provide all the comfort, colorful casualness, practicability, and easily cared for characteristics which cater to the needs of active youth.

Here are some valuable hints from local merchants on basic garments:

A suit is a "must." In tweed or shetland, monotone, herringbone or glen plaid it will preferably be single breasted in style, with three-button closing. The big color this year is burley brown, rich, deep and ruddy—and with it will be worn haberdashery in agate blue, a clear, cold tone becoming to boys of all complexions.

The sports coat is indispensable, and it is seen this year in longer length. The more brilliant its color and blatant its pattern, the smarter its appearance. Well fitted, it will be worn the year-round with the suit trousers and separate slacks.

Boys love the great outdoors, so a really warm overcoat becomes a major requirement. If it isn't in a light-but-warm fleece wool, it may be in covert cloth with zipper lining, making possible all-season wear from the one garment.

Although knitted caps are worn by the younger lad, his older brother goes hatted this year, with the puggree trimmed pork pie felt an overwhelming favorite.

No boy's wardrobe is complete without a sweater, preferably long sleeved, either in a perfectly plain knit stitch or in the rugged cable stitch which has fast become the campus leader.

For knockabout wear, the jacket of tough wool, sheepskin, suede or leather is a warm and comfortable standby, affording more freedom than is possible in a full length overcoat.

A raincoat is considered essential, but if the overcoat is of reversible water repellant construction the separate garment may be dispensed with.

PARENTS, TAKE THESE TIPS ON KEEPING SCHOOL CHILDREN SAFE

In Urban Centers.

1. Teach children that danger lies beyond the curb, and train them to stay on the sidewalk until the way is clear.
2. Adults should set a good example by crossing only at corners and obeying traffic signals.
3. Select the safest route to school and impress upon children the importance of using this route.
4. Teach youngsters to play in safe places, away from busy traffic lanes.
5. Explain the work of the school safety patrols and urge cooperation.
6. Point out and explain continually why driving and pedestrian errors are bad practices.
7. Give commendation for careful attention to traffic signals and safe walking rules.
8. Show concrete evidence of your interest in traffic safety by participating in local community safety programs.
9. Teach children the importance of looking both ways before starting to cross the street.
10. Train children to walk briskly, not run across streets.

In Rural Areas.

1. Explain why walking on the left side of the highway facing traffic is the safe way.
2. Teach children the necessity of wearing or carrying something white at night.
3. Urge children to give careful attention to those in charge of school bus drivers.
4. Stress the necessity for caution in crossing the highway when leaving or entering a school bus.
5. Interest school authorities in using safety posters, lessons and other safety teaching aids in schoolrooms.

When Bicycling.

1. Always ride facing oncoming traffic and off the main roadway when possible.
2. See that your bicycle is equipped with a bell, also light and red rear reflector for night use.
3. Obey traffic signals and always ride in single file when riding in groups.
4. Do not weave in and out of vehicular traffic.
5. Do not ride others on the handle bars when in traffic.

Merchants Serve As Purchasing Agent to Parent

Mansfield merchants, aware of their function as purchasing agents for parents and for youngsters who will return to school Sept. 4, have gone to great lengths to scour the nation's market for back to school clothes, shoes, accessories and supplies of rugged materials and efficient design.

They have stocked their shelves with fresh new merchandise and are placing their wares on display in their showrooms for immediate inspection by parents and school children.

Individual announcements of the merchants, with respect to their own recommendations to parents of school children, appear in today's News-Journal.

Under no circumstances need any parent delay this important work of equipping children for the return to classes, for budget payment plans being made available by the stores include opportunities for parents to budget the cost through charge accounts and time payment arrangements.

THE DANGER LINE

The curb line is the danger line for pedestrians—young and old. Look both ways and be sure the way is clear before you cross.

HITLER'S FRENCH COUP HIS BEST AT UNDERMINING

But Observers Feel Britain Is of Sterner Stuff, Fully Aware of Menace.

(Editor's Note: Following is the third of a series of dispatches on "fifth column" activities in Europe as released by Secretary of Navy Frank Knox.)

By COL. WILLIAM J. DONOVAN and EDGAR MOWRER

The masterpiece of the "fifth column" was unquestionably the French debacle. Here everything that Hitler had promised came to pass with almost mathematical precision.

He did not strike until he was in touch with certain important Frenchmen who were ready to treat with him. He needed but one swift blow. He terrified the soldiers by his noise-making engines and demoralized the officers by the surprise and power of his attacks. He spread horrible rumors through villages, issued fearsome reports by wireless, and then, when the populations had congested the roads in their flight, machine-gunned them to heighten their panic.

Meanwhile, his agents within France, kept him informed of what was going on and he could thus choose the precise moment for Italy's entrance into the war when French disarray was at its climax.

As a result France was not only beaten far more thoroughly and far more easily than Poland, but, unlike Poland, France cracked morally as well and a new set of leaders sought to purchase the German's mercy, if not his respect, by submission to France's conquerors.

Admittedly this could not have been accomplished save during a low ebb in French history. The French masses were increasingly materialistic. Capital and labor were at loggerheads. This enabled Hitler (and Mussolini as well) to keep up propaganda pressure, often through the Communists, and prevent the output in the armament industries from ever reaching a satisfactory level.

The crucial test justified all Hitler's efforts; when the French soldiers had a chance of fighting on equal terms, they fought fairly well; when nothing but heroism could have made up for superior German equipment, the French infantry, repeatedly deserted by their officers, melted away.

What happened to the French officers? Simply this: For the most part they had ceased to believe in freedom, democracy or any of the slogans which alone could galvanize the entire country.

How had Hitler accomplished this? By patient activity. For years his agents in France, Friedrich Sieburg, the author; Otto Abetz; "pro-French" consuls like Nolde and many others, had "worked" the French leaders.

They "got in" with certain of those leading French women who, at the moment of defeat, exercised such a devastating influence on certain French statesmen.

Not until two months before the outbreak of the war did anyone dare to take action against the numerous German agents—and then the vacillating Daladier talked big and did little.

A hesitant officer class brought about sure defeat for the army; the army's defeat frightened the army leaders lest the soldiers seek scapegoats among the generals. And a majority of cynical and cowardly politicians rushed their country into one of the most contemptible surrenders on record. Just as Adolf Hitler had said they would.

What of Hitler's "fifth column" in Great Britain? Short of the supreme test, it is impossible to say for sure. What is evident is that during the appeasement period, the Germans spun a web of friendship for Nazi Germany among the more gullible or dissatisfied members of the ruling class.

It is obviously a triumph in so proud a country as Britain to have created even so weak a satellite part as the British Union of Fascists. Organizations like the Link, the Anglo-German Fellowship, the Christian Fellowship, duped any number of highly placed Englishmen.

But it must be stated emphatically that the vast majority of the British, unlike the French, underwent radical change of heart after it became apparent that Hitler had duped Chamberlain at Munich.

Moreover, with British patriotism at the white heat of today under threat of imminent invasion, the fate of confessed "fifth columnists" in Britain would be short and unenviable.

This time the British police were prepared for the war. At the opening of hostilities they jailed some 400 of the best German agents.

All in all, foreigners in Britain have the impression that the several branches of the competent British police are masters of the situation, and that the British soul was never really tainted by Nazi propaganda.

Nonetheless, many foreigners believe that if the worst should happen and an invasion of Britain occur, some positive and hitherto unrevealed fruits of Hitler's propaganda would appear in the shape of a not entirely insignificant British "fifth column" which, like the French, would find numerous reasons why Britain should rather "come to terms" with Hitler than continue single-handed a desperate struggle the outcome of which is bound to contain some social change.

THEATERS

Comedy-Romance for Ayres.

Lew Ayres pops in and out of trouble in a hilarious series of adventures, trials and tribulations, aided and abetted by Rita Johnson in "The Golden Fleecing," the laugh-romance showing at the Ohio. The story is of a timid clerk involved with a gang of racketeers. Virginia Grey turns "heavy" to play the "moll" of the racket overlord, enacted by Lloyd Nolan. Leon Errol is funny as usual as the xylophone-playing former vaudevillian.

Lee Tracy In New Role.

Lee Tracy, whose versatility has won him a wide following among devotees of both comedy and drama, has a role in "Millionaires In Prison," that is in the way of something different. This picture is playing at the Madison along with "Dr. Christian Meets the Women." The real-life romance between a city boy and a small town girl comes into its own as climatic highlight of the picture starring Jean Hersholt. This fine character actor has made the role of Dr. Christian famous in the series of fine films.

Ann Rutherford In First Lead

Ann Rutherford is seen in her first romantic lead in the picture "The Ghost Comes Home," which is showing at the Ritz. John Shelton, from the New York stage, is in a leading role opposite Ann. The leading star is Frank Morgan, who has the role of Vern Adams, a small town owner of a pet store. It is a human-interest role, wherein he casts off much of his jittery comedy and becomes an ordinary human being. The second attraction is "I Was An Adventuress," with Zorina and Richard Greene in the leads.

Stars Young Actors.

Beginning Thursday at the Park will be shown "Haunted House," starring Marcia Mae Jones and Jackie Moran, adolescent romancers. This comedy-mystery with a small town newspaper background is the third in the young stars' present series. The co-feature is "Three Texas Steers," with the three mesquiteers, John Wayne in the lead. Carole Landis has the feminine role.

Sec. 2. That all claims resulting from damages therefrom shall be judicially inquired into after completion of the proposed improvements and that the Solicitor be and he is hereby authorized to institute proceedings in a court of competent jurisdiction to inquire into such claims.

Sec. 3. Be it further resolved, That that portion of the total cost of said improvement not exceeding $20,000, which portion excludes any part of the cost of said treatment plant or of that part of said sewerage system located outside of said Sewer District No. 1, and which portion does not exceed 98% of the cost (less intersections) of the improvement lying within Sewer District No. 1 be assessed in proportion to the benefits which may result from the improvement upon the following described lots and lands, to-wit:

All of the lots and lands situated within said Sewer District No. 1, which said lots and lands are hereby determined to be especially benefited by the said improvement, and the cost of said improvement shall include the expense of the Preliminary and other surveys and legal services and all printing and publishing notices, resolutions and ordinances required and the serving of said notices, the costs of construction together with interest on notes and bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments and of other expenditures.

Sec. 4. Be it further resolved, That the assessments so to be levied shall be paid in twenty (20) annual installments, with interest computed semi-annually on deferred payments at the same rate as shall be borne by the bonds to be issued in anticipation of the collection thereof, provided that the owner of any property assessed may, at his option, pay such assessment in cash within thirty (30) days after the passage of the assessing ordinance. That bonds of the Village of South Boulevards shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto, and notes of said Village of South Boulevards shall be issued in anticipation of the issue of such bonds.

Sec. 5. Be it further resolved, That the remainder of the entire cost of said project not specially assessed, less the portion to be contributed by the Federal Government, shall be paid by the issuance of general bonds in the manner provided by law.

Sec. 6. That the following lots and lands shall be assessed for said improvement as above determined.

In Sewer District No. 1

Lots number One (1) to Three Hundred Ninety-Seven (397) Inclusive.

Lots number Four Hundred (400) to Four Hundred Fourteen (414) Inclusive.

Lots number Four Hundred Sixteen (416) to Four Hundred Twenty (420) Inclusive.

Lots number Four Hundred Twenty-Eight (428) to Four Hundred Seventy-Seven (477) Inclusive.

Sec. 7. That the clerk be and is hereby authorized and directed to advertise for bids for the construction of said improvement according to law.

Sec. 8. That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed August 6th 1940.
Attest: H. B. SPOONER,
Clerk.
R. C. ELLIOTT,
Mayor.

PAM— Released! By A. W. Brewerton

MY CAR? WHY, NO, IT DOESN'T BELONG TO ME IT BELONGS TO MR DAVID GORDON HE'S OUT OF TOWN NOW AND LEFT IT FOR HIS SISTER AND ME, TO USE
DETECTIVE RAND HAS ONLY BEEN TESTING PAM — HE ALREADY KNEW WHO OWNED THE CAR
DON'T YOU BELIEVE WHAT I'VE TOLD YOU? YOU DON'T SUSPECT I KNOW ANYTHING OF THIS --ANYTHING FURTHER ABOUT THIS MAN DO YOU?
MISS POTTER, IN A CASE LIKE THIS WE "SUSPECT EVERY-ONE -- TIL IT'S CLEARED UP.

FRANKLY, I'M INCLINED TO THINK YOU'RE TELLING THE TRUTH, HOWEVER
PERHAPS - YOU'D LIKE TO HAVE SOME-ONE VOUCH FOR ME I WORK FOR COLONEL CLIFFORD CAREY, MAYBE YOU'D LIKE TO DRIVE BY HIS HOTEL?
THAT'S A GOOD IDEA!
RAND WAS SO IMPRESSED WITH THE COLONEL AND THE GLOWING ENDORSE-MENT OF PAM, SHE WAS PERMITTED TO GO HOME AT ONCE
SORRY TO HAVE IN-CONVENIENCED YOU SO, MISS POTTER — MAY HAVE TO CALL ON YOU LATER
NEVER FEAR - SHE WON'T RUN AWAY.
SO PAM DROVE HOME — BUT IT WASN'T THE END OF THIS MYSTER-IOUS ADVEN-TURE.

ISSUES ADVANCE FREELY TODAY IN MART DEALS

Wall Street Exhibits Slightly More Optimistic Attitude: Bonds Move Forward.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Stocks advanced freely today in limited dealings as Wall Street exhibited a slightly more optimistic attitude.

Prominent on the rise were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Harvester, Sperry, United Aircraft, Dupont, Westinghouse, American Telephone, International Paper and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Bonds and commodities moved forward appreciably.

Boardrooms received further indications of further industrial activity from two barometers—electric power production and carloadings.

Holders of steel shares noted the prediction of Ernest T. Weir, chairman of National Steel corp. that a rise in steel prices was unlikely unless production costs rose.

a definite solution one way or the other."

Gayda charged that Anglo-Greek "offensive designs" lie behind British "fables" of a revolt in Albania.

Britain Steps Into Balkan Row

ATHENS —(INS)— Great Britain today stepped into the troubled Balkans scene as Italian troops were reported massing along the Albanian-Greek border.

Sir Charles Palairet, British minister to Greece, held a 90-minute conference with Premier John Metaxas. Results of the parley were not made public.

Meanwhile, Greece was reported rushing troops to the border from northeast garrisons.

Admit Greater British Raids

ROME —(U.P.)— Italy admitted an intensification of British air raids on Italian positions throughout Ethiopia today.

War communique No. 74, issued from general headquarters, said that the British had raided Mega, Gelib and Dire Dawa in Ethiopia.

Neutral shipping had been warned that vessels approaching within 30 miles of the coasts of the Mediterranean, Red Sea, Gulf of Aden, Egypt and British African colonies henceforth were "in danger of destruction by mines or other means of war."

The communique said that Italian bombing formations had "attacked successfully and hit air bases on Malta." It claimed that all Italian planes returned safely "despite violent enemy reaction."

Charges Greeks Murdered Husband

KONISPOLI, Greek-Albanian Frontier—(U.P.)—Mrs. Daut Hoggia, widow of the recently assassinated Albanian Nationalist leader, charged formally today that her husband's killing was plotted in Greece and executed by an inter-border organization led by Greeks.

Mrs. Hoggia said she had filed the charges with the regional prefecture of police and had asked that they be forwarded to authorities at Tirana, the Albanian capital, and to Premier Benito Mussolini at Rome.

TO REORGANIZE

Scout Troop 7 Plans Changes at Meeting Tonight.

Members of Boy Scout Troop 7 will convene for a reorganizing meeting at their meeting room on North Main street at 7 p. m. today.

Tenderfoot badges will be awarded scouts who have completed the requirements and certificates will be given to the members of the troop committee.

Those receiving certificates tonight are J. B. Middlebrook, chairman of the committee, and Jesse Thomas and Dr. D. F. Mills, members of the committee. Herbie Williams is scoutmaster of the troop.

JAILED AFTER 'INNOCENT' PLEA

Wakeman Man Held on Charge of Defrauding Innkeeper.

Arraigned in municipal court today on a charge of defrauding an innkeeper, Ralph Dunlop, 49, of Wakeman pleaded innocent and was returned to the county jail until Thursday morning. He was unable to furnish $5,000 bond.

Dunlop was arrested yesterday in Norwalk by Deputy Sheriff Frank Robinson on a warrant signed by Mrs. Emma Watzky who operates a rooming house on Wayne street. She said Dunlop left without paying a $4 bill.

HAD ONLY HIS TIME TO LOSE

Arrested Driver Lacked Both License and a Car of His Own.

Bert Jones, 260 North Main street, who appeared in municipal court this morning on a charge of driving while drunk, was one offender who had neither his driver's license nor auto tags taken away from him. Because he had neither.

Jones pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to pay the costs of the case and spend 90 days in county jail. He was arrested last night at the corner of Sixth and Mulberry streets, where police said he was holding up traffic with his erratic driving. He had taken the car of Ralph E. White, 278 North Main, without the latter's knowledge, and he had no drivers license, they added.

emergency operation, held out little hope for his recovery.

Trotsky's assailant was identified tentatively as a Belgian citizen named Jacques Mornard Vanden. An immigration card found in his possession stated he was born at Teheran, Persia, Feb. 12, 1904, and was unmarried.

Authorities stated Vanden entered Mexico some time ago on an American tourist card bearing the name of Frank Jackson.

The moment the attack occurred, Trotsky's guards pounced on Vanden, injuring and wounding him so badly that he also was rushed to a hospital where he was operated on for a stomach wound. Physicians said his condition was grave.

Mexico Police Chief Jose Nunez permitted correspondents to look at Vanden. He lay on a cot in a bare hospital room only 30 feet from the room where Trotsky lay near death.

His head swathed in bandages, he looked somewhat oriental, possibly Persian. A detective sat at his bedside, questioning him in English. Vanden replied weakly to the detective's queries.

According to police Trotsky was at the dinner table with Vanden when the latter suddenly attacked, striking the "Old Bolshevik" repeatedly.

Screams from Mrs. Trotsky, also present, brought guards rushing to the scene. They overpowered Vanden at once.

After the operation, four physicians and Mrs. Trotsky remained constantly at Trotsky's bedside. His wife refused to leave him.

Once when the oxygen pad was removed briefly, Trotsky muttered unintelligibly to his wife, who sat holding his hand. Nurses again tried to lead her away but she would not leave.

Four surgeons, including Dr. Gustave Baz a well known specialist, performed the operation on Trotsky at the Green Cross hospital. Dr. Baz described the operation as a "craniectomy." It was performed shortly before midnight.

Maybe It Never Was, But Anyhow Now It's Gone

BALTIMORE—(AP)—That missing red white and blue "Star Spangled Banner" buoy really is missing.

It marked the spot where Francis Scott Key's ship was anchored when he wrote the national anthem during the British bombardment of Fort McHenry in 1814.

Coast guardsmen and lighthouse officials say the buoy never was there at all. Old yachtsmen declared they had seen it, but differ about the dates.

However Capt. William H. Riehl says that as master of the tugboat Sentinel, he placed the buoy in Chesapeake bay during the Star Spangled Banner centennial here in 1914.

It was a can buoy, he says, about three feet in diameter and eight feet tall painted with the Stars and Stripes. Riehl moored it midway between Fort Carroll and old Riverview park. Winds, [illegible] or a ship tore it away.

DNB, the official German news agency, said Nazi planes again were photographing British harbors, airports, munitions centers and troop concentrations.

DNB asserted the English defense was "weak," and consequently only a few fighter planes escorted the photo planes.

Hitler's high command reported attacks on key military objectives in England during the night, including Cambridge, Eastchurch and Manston airports, Deal, the harbor and rail terminal at Lowestoft, and warehouses and railroad switches at Exeter.

A British warship and harbor facilities were bombed at Great Yarmouth, the Nazi communique said, and a 12,000-ton merchant ship was sunk by direct bomb hits off the north coast of Ireland.

London reported the receipt by the British government of a German note regarding the treatment of parachute troops which may be landed in England—in the event Hitler finally carries out his long-awaited threat to invade Britain.

The note was said to assert that German 'chutists should be treated as combat soldiers, not as spies to be shot immediately upon capture.

After a day of slackened air raids over England, the night passed with what the British government called "negligible" German air activity though a number of persons were killed and others injured by bombs in southwest England town.

British fliers, however, continued their raids on German objectives and Sir Archibald Sinclair declared that as the nights grow longer "we shall strike even deeper into the enemy's vitals." German radio stations went off the air.

Prime Minister Churchill's speech yesterday in commons, pledging a finish fight and making the claim that Britain gains strength daily, was described by the German radio as "the balance sheet of a bankrupt firm."

Gibraltar Fires Seen Differently

LA LINEA, SPAIN—(AP)—Britain's Rock of Gibraltar flamed like a volcano early today after raiding warplanes dropped bombs on the fortress guarding the western gate of the Mediterranean.

In the pre-dawn darkness flames could be seen spreading down from the top of the rock—where long-range batteries apparently had been hit—toward the town where alarms sounded to summon residents to shelter.

Kouit is a retired railway engineer. He spent 46 years with the Rock Island railroad and now lives with his wife in Dalhart, Texas. He was born at Wooster but spent his boyhood in Indiana.

"As soon as I was old enough," he says, "I joined the railroad and kept moving farther west until I finally settled in Dalhart."

The elder brother left for Texas at noon today.

"But I'll be back," he said. "I'll be back in the spring for a good long stay. Bill and I started telling each other about ourselves right away when we saw each other but it's going to take a lot more time than we have on this visit to find out what all can happen to a couple of 'boys' in two lifetimes."

D., Mont., and others who feel it would be a long step toward direct American involvement in the war.

Lawyers have been in conflict over whether any destroyers could be made available without specific authorization by congress.

President Roosevelt never has expressed any opinion on the subject publicly. At Hyde Park yesterday, he asked reporters not to speculate about the matter.

Nevertheless, the question of sending destroyers to Britain was discussed pro and con with increasing fervor in congressional circles and elsewhere. It overshadowed the impending formation of the Canadian-American defense board and acquisition of western hemisphere air and naval bases from Great Britain.

offer to lease suitable sites to this country, said there was no intention of transferring sovereignty.

Location of the proposed bases remained undisclosed but it was believed a joint United States-Canadian base was planned at Newfoundland, under the new defense agreement between the two countries.

The most desirable sites from a defense standpoint in the Caribbean area appeared to be at Trinidad, Barbados, or other islands in the now unguarded southern passage from the Atlantic into the Caribbean. Puerto Rico and Guantanamo offer protection in the central and northern passages.

Pacific Islands Already Leased

LONDON —(AP)— British foreign office sources today confirmed reports the United States had leased the islands of Canton and Enderbury in the southern Pacific from Great Britain as air bases. The lease, these sources said, is for 50 years, with a provision that it can be extended indefinitely.

Canton and Enderbury islands, mere dots on the map of the Pacific, came under the joint control of the United States and Great Britain April 6, 1939, by virtue of a 50-year agreement.

The agreement provided that the islands, part of the Phoenix group lying midway between Hawaii and Australia, should serve as way stations on the air route between the United States and Australia. It also provided that the islands be administered by a United States official and a British official.

a record vote on a proposal calling for the imposition of "forced loans" to finance the defense program if conscription of manpower is ordered. He offered the measure as an amendment to the Burke-Wadsworth bill.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla), who said he was "definitely in favor of the principle" of Lee's amendment, announced that he favored empowering the government to require industry to produce necessary defense equipment with the understanding that manufacturers would be protected against loss and permitted to earn a "very small" profit.

Testimony of navy and army officials prompted Senator McKeller (D-Tenn) to suggest in committee that "we had better use a little force" to have industry accept defense contracts.

Senator Russell (D-Ga) commented: "I guess we will have to conscript business."

Voicing approval of the "Lee "forced loan" plan, Senator Ashurst (D-Ariz) asserted that it was "perfectly constiutional to draft men as well as to draft money" in peace time.

He urged that Lee also "give some attention to the question of drafting income."

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) told the chamber that "if we are going to have a peacetime draft of men there can be no reason under the sun why we shouldn't have peacetime conscription of wealth."

Argentina Moves to Prevent Revolutionary Disorders

GENERAL HELD IN CONNECTION WITH SCANDAL

Bed-Ridden President Calls Cabinet Meeting as His Regime Threatened.

(By Associated Press)

BUENOS AIRES — Immediate measures to protect all army headquarters and barracks against "any attack on public order" were ordered today after a conference of military leaders with War Minister Carlos Marquez.

The special precautions were taken after the arrest of Gen Juan Bautista Molina, long a Rightest leader of the Argentine army, in connection with an army land buying scandal that has threatened a governmental crisis.

The crisis developed to such proportions last night that bed-ridden President Roberto M. Ortiz, who retired from active service July 3 because of illness, called a cabinet meeting at his home early today in an attempt to control developments threatening his regime.

Immediately after the meeting War Minister Gen. Carlos Marquez went to the war ministry and conferred for half an hour with the inspector-general of the army, Gen. Guillermo Mohr, ordering precautionary measures in Argentina's six corps areas.

The arrested General Molina was mentioned in recent reports of attempts to seize the government by force of arms

General Marquez ordered that Molina be placed under arrest for 60 days It was the war minister's answer to a letter Molina had sent to the senate yesterday charging that the war minister had tried to clear himself of responsibility in the disputed land deal by "ignoble" means and by blaming other officers, among them Molina himself.

The crisis revolves about the sale to the army of a tract of land for about $612,500, or five times the actual value, according to the report of a senate committee investigating it

General Molina is a former chief of the army's engineering division.

NAMED TO POST

Harold Mansfield to Succeed Harker Enlow.

Harold K. Mansfield has been named safety supervisor for the Richland County Red Cross, replacing Harker Enlow, who resigned to operate a filling station he recently purchased on Route 30-N.

Enlow was the first safety director on the chapter's staff, correlating and supervising the work of first aid, life saving and highway first aid.

Mansfield is associated with his father, W. C. Mansfield, in the real estate business.

Named by the executive committee, headed by John Finefrock, he will take over his new duties at once and will map plans for the fall first aid classes.

Expect Engineer To Tell Story of Doodle-Bug Crash

AKRON—(INS)—Sufficiently recovered from injuries received when he jumped from a Pennsylvania railroad accommodation car just before it crashed into a doubleheader freight at Cuyahoga Falls on July 31, Engineer Thomas L. Murtaugh will give railroad officials his version of the tragedy late this week, they said today.

He will be interviewed in City hospital where he has been since the wreck, which claimed the lives of 43 persons, by railroad officials and Coroner R. E. Amos

They are seeking to learn why orders for the passenger car to enter a switch at Silver Lake were disobeyed.

Harry Shafer, conductor, told officials he was on his way to the head of the car to ask Murtaugh why he had passed the siding when he saw the freight coming and jumped from the baggage compartment.

CLEARS ACTORS OF RED CHARGE

Dies Absolves Cagney, Dunne, Bogart and March of Communist Taint.

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO—After concluding that three movie stars and a noted screen writer were in no way linked with Communist activities, Chairman Martin Dies of the congressional committee investigating unAmerican activities leaves for the east today, carrying evidence gathered in a two-day hearing at San Francisco.

The four Hollywood notables Dies absolved of the Communist link were Actors Jimmy Gagney, Frederic March and Humphrey Bogart and Scenario Writer Phil Dunne Each had been accused of radical activities in previous testimony before the Dies committee

The Texas congressman interviewed both Dunne and Cagney at length behind locked doors in his hotel suite. Then he absolved the quartet in the following statement:

"I have carefully considered all the evidence to this date, including the testimony of some of those accused of Communism, and from that evidence, I am now of the opinion that Humphrey Bogart, Frederic March, Phil Dunne and James Cagney are not, and never have been, members of the Communist party.

"However, apparently out of humanitarian impulses, March, Dunne and Cagney made contributions to, and let their names be used by certain organizations in which this committee has unanimously found Communists entrenched in leadership. .

"These men have also made large contributions to the Red Cross and Community Chest."

Cagney followed Dunne into the Dies hearing room The screen "tough guy" arrived from Los Angeles after a cross-continental flight from his farm in Massachusetts where he had been vacationing Cagney was accompanied by his brother, Bill, who acts as his business manager.

BELL SAVES BUCKEYE GENERAL FROM CAPTURE IN WISCONSIN

CAMP M'COY, Wis.—(AP)—It was the time for praise and criticism, with emphasis on the latter, as 60,000 troops of the second army paused between maneuvers for a breathing spell.

Results of critiques conducted by regular army officers directing the training program of the national guardsmen were summed up in these words by Lieut. Gen. Stanley H Ford, second army commander

"While there were a number of deficiencies disclosed, there were innumerable evidences of most creditable operations."

Timing and execution of maneuvers in the "battle" between the 33rd Illinois division and the 32nd division comprised of Michigan and Wisconsin troops drew praise from Col. Ralph Talbot, jr., chief of staff of the sixth army corps, but criticism was dealt out for lights displayed too frequently at night, no proper alarm for air attack and motor vehicles "bunches" on the roads.

Maj. Gen. Gilson D. Light, commander of the 37th division, said of his own division that they had gone into action, "with enough equipment for a year's picnic" and warned officers and men that excess equipment would be discarded in the future.

General Light was barely "saved by the bell" in yesterday's battle. Shortly before the "Battle of Wisconsin" ended, enemy forces almost captured him in a vicious counter-attack.

PLANE BUILDERS NOT HESITATING

Ready to Talk About Profit Later After Airplanes Delivered to U. S.

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES—Four of the nation's major airplane manufacturing companies stated publicly today they "are ready to build airplanes first and talk about profits afterward."

Presidents of the four companies —Douglas, Lockheed, Vultee and Boeing—issued the statement as Production Chief William Knudsen of the national defense commission and Major Gen. H. H Arnold, chief of the army air corps, opened an inspection of southern California aircraft plants.

"While others talked, we have acted," the statement declared.

It was signed by Donald W. Douglas, Douglas Aircraft Company, Inc.; Robert E. Gross, Lockheed Aircraft corporation; Richard W. Millar, Vultee Aircraft Inc.; P. G. Johnson, Boeing Aircraft company.

The statement said, in part:

"In the present national defense emergency, aircraft manufacturers have offered, and continue to give, the government of the United States every resource and facility at their command

"We are ready to build airplanes first and talk about profits afterward. To this end, the industry is making rapid progress."

Earlier, Gross announced that his company was negotiating with the government for a substantial quantity of high-speed interceptor fighters.

ASSAULT TRIAL OPENS; JUDGE SCOLDS CROWD

Makes Reprimand After Laugh From Spectator; Girl Takes Stand.

James D. Foster 24, of 156 Hammond avenue, went on trial this morning in common pleas court on a charge of criminally assaulting a 16-year-old junior high school girl last June 4 on a lonely road east of Mansfield.

When a spectator in the courtroom laughed during the girl's testimony soon after the trial got under way, Common Pleas Judge C. H Huston warned that "anyone else who laughs or creates a disturbance during this trial will be thrown out of the room" The courtroom was almost full.

The girl was the first witness called to the stand by Prosecutor G. W. Marriott.

She related that Foster forced his attentions on her after they returned from an all-day ride to Sandusky and other northern Ohio cities.

She said he bought wine for her and her 18-year-old girl companion during the trip and that he refused to take her home after letting the other girl out of the car in Mansfield She related that she struggled with Foster in the car after he had parked it and added that his shirt was torn in the struggle.

In his opening statement to the jury, Atty. Joseph Ellison, appointed to defend Foster, said Foster admitted having improper relations with the girl but denied it was against her will.

The two girls said they played hookey from school to go for a ride with Foster who was said to have been a friend of the older girl Foster is married.

A jury of 10 men and two women was completed shortly before 10 a. m. after several prospective jurors were dismissed at the request of Attys. Ellison and Arthur Negin, defense counsel

GET FUNDS

Mansfield, Shelby and County Given Relief Allocations.

Mansfield, Shelby and Richland county today were allocated a total of $4,195 in state funds to help pay July relief bills.

The allocations, representing 10.2 per cent of the total relief bill, will give Mansfield $1,916; Richland county, $1,993, and Shelby, $286. Allocations to the relief areas are based on their expenditures last month. The local subdivisions must provide the rest of the funds.

Ohio relief costs last month increased $28,637 over June, the total bill amounting to $1,865,212.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 21, 1940.

It takes all kinds of people to make a world—including those you wonder about.

Seems odd that "human nature" is never credited with anything that's commendable.

Efforts toward simplified spelling have always failed—and the movement toward calendar revision isn't doing so well either.

Making Ready for Return to School

ANNOUNCEMENT of Wednesday, September 4, as the date for re-opening of Mansfield public schools, after the "long" vacation, brings to mind that within the next few weeks thousands of children in this city and vicinity—and millions over the country—will be entering or returning to school.

Whatever may be the attitude toward education, among less enlightened people who must depend upon others to do their thinking, it has long been a fundamental of American democracy that equality of educational opportunities should be accorded every child—and this is being done as rapidly as possible.

Improvement in school facilities in Ohio, for instance, amazes older persons who recall memories of school houses of their own childhood in contrast with the fine modern completely equipped buildings now common to cities, towns and rural communities.

And from the meager schooling to which many children were limited in those earlier times an idea has grown into quite general acceptance that a 12-year course, with graduation from high school, should be the educational minimum of present-day children, with one or more years in college for those who can make use of this additional education to advantage.

There has also been a growing inclination in recent years to emphasize vocational training as a part of school curricula, with a view to preparing children for the kind of work to which they are best fitted and in which there is more likelihood of getting a job and earning advancement.

Among children themselves, and with their parents, there should be no question as to the advisability of continuing in school until graduation from high school, unless physical or mental handicaps make this impossible.

So now, as August nears its end and school days again approach, thoughts of preparation for return to school may well be uppermost in the minds of fathers and mothers of children between the ages of six and eighteen—so as to make sure that each child is in readiness to get the most possible out of his or her studies and other school activities during the coming year.

Airfields are Part of Defense

THE GROWING production of warplanes for American defense is reassuring, but airplanes are useless without airfields. The Architectural Forum gives certain unpleasant facts on this score.

There are some 2,400 civilian fields, but only a little more than 200 of them are large enough for transports or bombers. Hundreds more must be put in condition to accommodate the increased traffic that is to be expected if 20,000 to 50,000 planes are added to our air forces.

This is a matter not merely of size but of modernization. "Were it merely a matter of planning for commercial traffic," says the publication referred to, "bad design would probably mean no more than inconvenience, delay and the high costs that accompany inefficiency. With the added factor of national defense, inadequate planning could be disastrous."

Aviation experts probably appreciate this fact and there may soon be the beginning of a movement to enlarge and remodel many airports.

Ickes Resents Willkie's Challenge

HOWEVER unlikely a series of Roosevelt-Willkie debates may be, as a part of this national campaign, it is difficult to understand the horror with which Secretary Ickes views the proposal.

Mr. Ickes is quoted as having said on this subject: "One cannot challenge the president of the United States to go about the country barnstorming, after the pre-radio fashion of the past century, without laying himself open to the charge that he is indulging in cheap bravado."

Whether or not Mr. Ickes may subscribe to such a doctrine, it may appear to many that it was to Franklin D. Roosevelt, nominee for third term as president, that Wendell Willkie issued his debate challenge, rather than to President Roosevelt, whose high office commands respect of all Americans.

As opposing candidates for the presidency it appears entirely fair to regard Franklin D. Roosevelt and Wendell L. Willkie as on a common level, insofar as requirement for respect is concerned—that it is the office of president, rather than the man who occupies it, that is entitled to superior respect.

There may be other reasons why it is impracticable for Mr. Roosevelt to meet the challenge of Mr. Willkie—but the one stated by Mr. Ickes can scarcely be regarded as satisfactory, nor is "barnstorming" a happy choice of a word to describe thoughtful presentation of campaign issues to American voters.

Experience Is Required

AN OLD idea that inexperience is an important cause of failure of small businesses is not confirmed by a recently published study of [illegible] made by Pearce C. Kelley of the University of Arkansas.

Mr. Kelley studied 1,721 retail stores in 17 towns, ranging in size from 1,000 to 20,000 population. Some of the stores were prosperous, and [illegible]. His purpose was to find out just what the [illegible] the store owners had pursued.

Thirty of the proprietors had been salesmen, 44 had been farmers, 17 had been housewives, 61 had been clerks, and so on. Only about half of them had any previous training whatsoever in a business having any connection with retailing. And in many cases, the connection was extremely remote. This ties in with other authoritative studies of retail operation and retail mortality. Many a man or woman, out of a job and with a few dollars of savings, decides that running a store is a simple and lucrative undertaking. A few succeed. Others simply find the going too tough. Lack of adequate finance, lack of experience, lack of sales ability, inefficiency, wastefulness—these are the primary causes of retail failure.

A farmer turned storekeeper will find the odds against him—just as would a storekeeper turned farmer. Lack of experience in any calling is the surest road to failure.

WE MUSTN'T LET IT SPOIL OUR FUN

Pettengill Explains It In a Book

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

EX-REPRESENTATIVE SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL of Indiana is a Democrat. Also a democrat. Note the distinction. As a democrat he believes in democracy. He's a vehement supporter of it, in act. As a Democrat he belongs to the Democratic party.

PETTENGILL

He's been an ex-representative since the last congress ended. At that juncture he retired from politics. Anyway, that's the way he puts it. I'd say he's still in politics up to his neck, so far as his activity's concerned. Officially, he's an "ex," however.

He's against President Roosevelt's re-election. Possibly he's in sympathy with certain of F. D. R.'s politico-socio-economic objectives, but he objects emphatically to the fashion in which F. D. R. has been trying to arrive at them. He also is an anti-third termer.

Quite a few D-democrats are like that. A considerable number of them have bolted the Democratic party and are plugging for Wendell Willkie. Ex-Congressman Pettengill refuses to bolt. He's going to work like fury against Roosevelt, but he isn't going to campaign for Wendell.

It's a political commonplace that a lot of elections are decided, not by the voters' preference for the winning candidate but by their hostility to his opponent. This seems to be ex-Congressman Pettengill's complex, but I think he has it better thought out than the average voter has.

Stands by His Party.

The ex-congressman is a novelty in part because, while an outstanding anti-Roosevelt D-democrat, he isn't a D-democratic bolter. He proposes to stay inside his party, regardless of his objection to its present candidate and the latter's methods of going after his objectives.

D-democratic leaders in some of the southern states are puzzled as to the bolting proposition. I notice it in Virginia. There are notabilities there who oppose Roosevelticism vigorously, but if they bolt they're afraid they'll lose a good bit of their D-democratic representation in congress.

They're anxious to eat their cake—that is, to defeat F. D. R. But they want to have it, to—said cake, in the latter classification, being just as many legislators in Washington as they've ever had. Ex-Congressman Pettengill may or may not prove to have done something toward solving their problem for them.

Writes a Book.

He's done his best, in any event. He's written a book for their guidance. He calls it "Smoke Screen." His thesis is that no "sudden coup d'etat" will spring totalitarianism on us—that, if it's done at all, it will be done "under a smoke screen of laudable objectives."

"That's why the book's called "Smoke Screen." A few of its sub-titles are, "Karl Marx—Immigrant," "Socialism Through the Back Door," "Taxation Sucks the Eggs," "The Blight of Bureaucracy," "The New Despotism," and "Balance Sheet"—our 40-odd billion indebtedness.

That gives an idea of the little volume's contents. One doesn't have to agree with it all to find it interesting. There are 126 pages of it and it's packed full of information. The ex-congressman's had a deal of experience on Capitol Hill and he's a close student.

Constitutional Committee Head.

Sam Pettengill is present head of what's known as the National Committee to Uphold Constitutional Government, a non-partisan or bi-partisan set-up. Its original head was Frank E. Gannett, the New York chain newspaper publisher, but Gannett had to drop out, being an aspirant for the Republican presidential nomination, which, as we all know, he didn't get.

In concluding his booklet, Sam asks, for the committee, "Are we licked?"

His answer (not expressed in quite these words) is, "No, not if we send strong men to congress."

That's the nub of it. It's why he doesn't bolt: he doesn't want a split that will disorganize our legislative chambers. He thinks they're the essential end of government.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Saturday, August 21, 1920.

Sugar was retailing at 25 cents a pound, but drop to 21 cents was predicted.

Charles S. Darling resigned as organist at Majestic theater to take similar position in Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Button, former residents, were here from Bowling Green on a visit.

Cotter company bought warehouse properties in Columbus.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hannan, 33 Reba avenue.

Miss Ethel Goss and Wayne McFadden were married by Rev. A. F. Tetherlow.

Mrs. Henry Fox, 97, former Mansfield resident, died in Chicago.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Wednesday, August 21, 1935.

Traffic lights were installed at intersections at Bushnell school; at East Fourth and North Adams and Adams and East Third streets.

Announcement was made of the marriage of Miss Zola Chamberlain and Kenneth Robinson, solemnized April 21 at Shelbyville, Ind.

Fourteen Richland county youths were selected for duty in federal CCC camps.

Paving was begun on Stewart avenue.

Daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Karl Shoebaugh, 441 West Sixth street.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Charter Oak at Hartford, Conn., was blown down in a storm on Aug. 21, 1856. The charter of Connecticut, the most liberal of all the colonial charters, was secreted in a cavity of this oak.

Health and Diet

Infection Spread By Finger Tips.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

EXPERIENCE emphasizes over and over again that even small abrasions on the skin should not be neglected. Many a case of blood poisoning has resulted from a blister on the heel from tennis, or a small splinter in the finger tip.

Any cut or scratch should be washed gently with cotton dipped in alcohol and when dry painted with iodine or mercurochrome. If there is any bleeding, bandage with sterile gauze.

We have been asked what two places on the body were the most dangerous for skin infections. The answer is finger tip infections and upper lip and nose infections.

Easier Carriers.

The fingers are well supplied with lymphatics and these carry infection up the arm into the blood stream—so-called blood poisoning. Its path may be seen in the little red lines under the skin from the point of infection to the arm pit. The lymph glands—kernels—in the armpit or above the elbow may be enlarged, also an indication of spreading infection.

The finger tip is a dangerous site for infection also because of its anatomy. Along the finger under the skin and above the bone and going into the palm of the hand are closed sacs of fascia sheaths for the tendons of the muscles which perform the fine movements of the fingers. These are easily infected and long after the infection is conquered, considerable crippling and disability.

Other forms of infection of the fingers include felons which are extension of pus to the periosteum of the bone.

Prompt Dressing.

To avoid all these dangers treat every injury and abrasion to the skin of the fingers especially finger tips with respect which means prompt sterilization and dressing.

The upper lip infections are particularly dangerous because the blood supply of that region leads directly to the great blood sinuses of the brain, and infection may follow this path causing septic sinus thrombosis, an almost always fatal condition. Such infections should be treated by a physician and above all should not be rubbed or touched or handled.

Furuncles of the nose have the same tendency. Small furuncles inside the nose usually come from an infected hair follicle. Lowered vitality or diabetes or some other chronic diseases predispose to this sort of infection and the condition is commoner in older people. Erysipelas, also an infection predominantly of older people, may follow from such furuncles or little boils in the nose.

Military Might Is Hitler's God; Invasion of U. S. Feared In Fall

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—One of the men who knew Hitler best, at least in earlier life, is now in the United States as German consul general in San Francisco. He is Captain Fritz Wiedemann, who was Hitler's company commander when the present ruler of most of Europe was a corporal during the World war.

Captain Wiedemann has to be discreet in what he says today, but before the war reached its present crisis, he once gave this description of Hitler to a friend.

"We never thought of him as anything unusual," Captain Wiedemann said. "The chief thing about him was his love of the army. He was the kind of man who could always be depended upon, if there was an disaffection or communism. He would root it out.

"Some years later I saw a sign advertising one of his political rallies, and said to myself, 'Could this be our little Hitler?' I went in and it was he."

That was the beginning of the renewal of an old acquaintance. Wiedemann later was an aide to Hitler in Berlin.

Looking back over his entire career, Wiedemann says the key to Hitler's life and success is his belief in the army. The military has been Hitler's great fetish. Just as he believed in the army as a corporal, so he began working for the army immediately after he became chancellor of Germany.

Fifty per cent of all Germany's revenue went to the army. It was his great ambition to build the best army in the world, to make Germany a completely militarized state. According to Captain Wiedemann, military might is Hitler's only god.

British Blitzkrieg.

IT REMAINS the firm conviction of Secretary of War Stimson and General Marshall, his chief of staff, that if Hitler is to invade this country it will come this fall before we are prepared. They are inclined to think that as soon as Hitler is finished with the British, he will move here.

Stimson and Marshall have indicated this view to congress, but they are even more positive in their private conversations. . . . U. S. air observers in London report that no matter how gallantly British pursuit planes oppose the Germans, and even though they always bring down 10 to 15 per cent of the attacking Nazis, about 90 per cent of the Nazi bombers always break through. . . . The U. S. lesson to be drawn from this applies to the Panama canal. Despite the large air force guarding the canal, military authorities admit that it would be impossible for them to prevent an enemy air armada from getting over the locks. . . . One well-placed bomb can put the locks out of commission for about three months. . . . One factor in favor of the British is that when their pilots have to bail out they come down on British soil, can fight again next day. But Nazi pilots, bailing out, are captured. . . . Despite the herculean efforts of the British, U. S. observers doubt that they can hold out against the overwhelming air odds against them.

Sit-Down Strike.

A SIT-DOWN STRIKE far worse than anything pulled by the CIO in the automobile plants of Michigan is now being staged by some American industrial leaders. It is a sit-down strike against the production of war and navy orders until industry sees what kind of a tax bill will be written by congress.

It is the old, old struggle of profits versus public interest.

Only this time it is being staged while the security of the nation is at stake. Also it is being staged while congress is debating the the problem of conscription the youth (perhaps also their lives) of the nation.

For behind the backstage maneuving over the new war profits bill is: 1st, the flat refusal of a number of key defense manufacturers to move a finger on government contracts until they know positively what the tax bill will be; that is, until it has been actually enacted into law.

Second, the undercover maneuvers of certain business interests, some of them armament producers, to whittle the bill down to a mere shadow.

Unequivocal assurances were given the obdurate business men that certain amortization concessions they demanded would be written into the tax measure. It was even proposed to include a provision in the bill for adjustment of differences that might arise later. But despite these guarantees certain defense manufacturers have balked at getting busy on emergency armament orders.

They are conducting a "sit down" against national defense until the concessions they want actually are in black and white on the statute books.

This already has cost weeks of delay in the placing of major orders and the end is nowhere in sight.

* * *

Battered Tax Bill.

BEHIND-THE-SCENES the debates over taxation has been hot and turbulent.

After Roosevelt urged immediate enactment of an excess profits bill, the treasury submitted proposals to the joint congressional committee on internal revenue taxation to raise around $400,000,000 in additional revenue. Several days later Senator Pat Harrison, co-chairman of the committee, laid before the president a substitute bill concocted by Harold Stam, general counsel of the congressional committee.

Harrison assured Roosevelt that it would produce the same amount as the treasury proposals but by soft-pedalling on certain controversial items would be easier to enact. Anxious for fast action, Roosevelt told Senator Harrison to go ahead.

But when committee members began probing the Stam-Harrison bill they discovered that far from producing $400,000,000 it would tap armament profits only for around $190,000,000 — less than half the treasury figure.

But even this, apparently, did not satisfy certain business elements. For the National Defense Commission named an advisory committee of $1-a-year men to study the problem. This group has now urged revisions in the Stam-Harrison bill aiming to whittle it down even below $190,000,000.

But when the committee tried to get the commission to approve its report, fireworks broke loose.

Bristling with anger, Labor Commissioner Sidney Hillman declared that he would not be party to any attempt to "use the country's need for defense to make profits for a few individuals." He denounced the report in scathing terms and demanded its rejection.

To his support came Donald Nelson, former executive of Sears, Roebuck, now U. S. procurement director; also Chester Davis, Federal Reserve Board member and agricultural spokesman on the defense commission. Both declared that if the man-power of the nation was to be conscripted, capital, too, had to make sacrifices.

When the shooting was over the defense commission unanimously ditched the $1-a-year men's report. What the next move of the tax sharpshooters will be remains to be seen.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Sergio Orta, who looks like a Cuban edition of Victor Moore, sank into a chair at the Havana-Madrid and gave himself up to the moody contemplation of another three-hour wait before he would be on the floor again.

"I am sad," he explained. "Always I am sad when I am not dancing. When I announce the show I am unhappy. When the people cheer I am unhappy too. It makes no difference whether they cheer or forget to cheer, unless I am dancing. Only when I am doing the dance is Orta happy."

Orta is a fat-jowled comedian who is shaped something like a reasonably hard-boiled egg. He sort of quivers when he walks. Through great horn-rim glasses he peers out at a world that is translated only into two mediums—good and bad. It is good only when the rhumba is rumbling and the conga is coiling like a great hip-switching tropical reptile. All else is bad.

"I GO HOME in two weeks," he announced suddenly. "I go home to Havana to sell my house and get my inheritance. Then I come back and get my citizenship paper. I put on a big Latin-American musical comedy called 'Tropicana.' I introduce the new dance New York has never before seen—the Naniga. It is a dance that the authorities prohibit in Cuba. But you will see it in New York. I do it. I design the costumes. I bring back the music and the primitive African drums. There is nothing like it. When I do this, I will be happy."

Senor Orta arrived at his station of master of ceremonies and general clown at the Havana-Madrid, a Broadway Latin-American night club, by devious ways. He came only to visit the World's Fair. Being Cuban, he waited until nightfall and then naturally gravitated toward the distant thumping of the rhumba drums. He launched his round, rotunda-like frame out onto the floor, and began to dance. The dancers began to form a circle around him. Next night he came back and monopolized the crowd's attention again. They began to forget about the show. Orta made them cheer.

AT THIS point the owners of the club persuaded Senor Orta to lend his talents and his flaming red-and-yellow blazers to the Havana-Madrid floor show. Since that time he has designed its costumes, organized its routines, introduced its stars with club Cuban yelps, and, at each finale, hurled himself onto the floor to dance through the final round-up.

It is then, when he is heaving his jolly frame through the fast contortions of an over-fed quivrbug, that life comes into his eyes and the world (to him) is fair and good to look upon. Nothing else matters — not even the horse at Rockingham that yesterday paid him 17 for two.

"You see," explained Orta, "always I am sad unless I dance. The horses, the fair—they mean nothing. One must live, one must love, one must dance — that is life."

"You said it there, brother," I said, reaching for my hat and bowing myself out. Senor Orta's melancholia was becoming infectious. It made you sad to see him so sad. As the next show was two hours away, I couldn't wait.

A Farmer's Diary

The Ginkgo Tree

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

ON BROADWAY in a neighboring town, I saw a strange tree. It grew upon a lawn, and was about 15 inches in diameter. Nobody was about. I ventured up the bank to get a better view. I have seen only two such trees in all this section, but in Cleveland a whole city block has a planting of this peculiar kind.

The name is Chinese, and Chinese and Japanese call this tree sacred, and bless the ground on which it grows, because it links the present with the distant past. "This tree most likely enjoys the unique distinction of representing a specie, a genus, a family and an order, all in one." Its life history dates back to prehistoric times, and it lived neighbor to giant ferns, conifers and cycads of prehistoric ages.

About ancient forests of this species the mammoth dinosaurs, lords of the reptilian world, roamed and fought for supremacy. When hatlike reptiles flew through the air and greater monsters swam the sea, the Ginkgo tree put down its anchoring roots into some salty soil and grew prolifically. It helped to form liberal portions of our coal beds.

The bank on the one I examined was ridged and rough, with thinner spaces between the higher points that bursted from the pressure within. I saw no twisted roots upon the surface. The leaves are large and possess the very form of the maidenhair fern, with an ampler pattern. They wave in the slightest breeze, like miniature palm leaf fans, and furnish a timely example of parallel veination. I felt of the surface with my thumb and finger. It was like touching a finely woven cloth.

The seeds have no covering, but are borne between light folds of soft round balls, supported on slender stems. The tree may be propogated from its edible, insipid seeds; from a slip, or a portion of the bank. Alexander Hamilton brought the first specimens to this country in 1784.

VARIED ACTIVITIES ENTERTAIN MANY

Liberty Park Auxiliary, Charles Dick Group, Frances Willard W. C. T. U. Conduct Afternoon Sessions.

VARIED EVENTS provided entertainment for Mansfield women yesterday, as the cooler weather turned thoughts of many to renewed activity for the coming autumn and winter months. There were 36 members of the Liberty park auxiliary present for the covered-dish dinner which was held at the park.

Guests were Mrs. William King, Mrs. John Gross and Mrs. John Kulka. The long table at which the group was seated was decorated with garden flowers and individual favors.

Mrs. Rose Curatti read a poem entitled "My Will," after which games were played. Winners were Mrs. George Marshall, Mrs. George Hostetter, Mrs. Leo Karsmski and Mrs. Bertha Faugl. The hostesses were Mrs. Laura Stevens and Mrs. Katherine Shibinski. The next meeting will be held at the park club house Sept. 10 at 7:30 p. m. with Mrs. Curatti in charge.

A routine session was held by members of the Charles Dick auxiliary yesterday evening at the Memorial building following an afternoon of quilting and supper at 6 p. m. Mrs. Andrew Heidinger was hostess. Another all-day quilting will be held Aug. 28 while the next regular meeting will be an event of Sept. 3.

* * *

Members of the Frances Willard W. C. T. U. met for a covered-dish dinner at noon yesterday at South park. The 20 present were led in devotion by Mrs. Elizabeth Poole, after which Mrs. F. O. Haldeman conducted the business session.

A round table discussion on world events followed, and Mrs. Irene Hine gave the reading, "No Denominations In Heaven." The next meeting will be held at 1 p. m. Sept. 17 at the home of Mrs. L. J. Greenawalt, 544 Sloane avenue.

Sets Date

Shown above is Miss Catherine Horvath, daughter of Mrs. Barbara Pappas, 212 Spring street, who will become the bride of Amico Carmel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carmel, Adams street. The ceremony will be performed Aug. 31 at St. Peter's Catholic church at 9:30 a. m. The bride-elect is employed at the Galion Coat factory, while Mr. Carmel works at the Martin Steel company.

Loudonville Girl Becomes Bride of Newark Resident

OF INTEREST among Mansfield residents is an announcement received today of the marriage of Miss Florence Kick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Kick of Loudonville, and Theron Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Reed of Indianapolis, Ind., at 10 o'clock last Saturday morning at the Zion Lutheran church in Loudonville.

Preceding the single ring service, which was performed by Rev. J. H. Kuhlman, Mrs. G. B. Fuller presided at the organ, playing a wedding hymn, "Venetian Love Song," "The Rosary" and the "Indian Love Call." William J. Yeager was the vocal soloist, and his selections included, "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me." Before the benediction, a trio composed of Mrs. Paul Kuhlman, Mrs. Richard Paullin and Mrs. Edward Hyde sang a hymn, and the organist also played wedding marches by Wagner and Mendelssohn.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a pure white silpper satin gown, fashioned with a V-neck, wrist-length leg-o-mutton sleeves, girdled waist and a slight train extending from the full skirt. A tiara of pearlized orange blossoms held her double circular cape veil in place, and she carried a lace handkerchief, a gift from Mrs. Fuller. Her arm bouquet was of white gladioli, asters and larkspur tied with white stain streamers.

Miss Donna McElroy of this city was the maid-of-honor and Miss Ruth Diamond of Galion, was the bridesmaid. Both the attendants' dresses were made of net and faille taffeta, Miss McElroy wearing debutante blue, and Miss Diamond, cameo rose. They wore doll hats in contrasting colors and carried bouquets of roses and larkspur in the same shades.

Mr. Reed's brother, Byron Reed, of Indianapolis, was his best man, while Richard Crawford and Randall Thumm of Newark were the ushers.

Mrs. Kick appeared at her daughter's wedding in a navy blue dress with white accessories, and Mrs. Reed also wore white accessories with her printed chiffon dress of maroon, green and white. Both women wore gardenia shoulder corsage.

After a wedding breakfast for friends and relatives at the home of Mrs. Lottie Zimmerman in Loudonville, the couple left for a trip through the Adirondack and White mountains to Cape Cod and New York City. They will make their home at 286 Broad street in Newark after Sept. 1.

Mrs. Reed, a graduate of Loudonville high school and the Mansfield Business college, has been employed in the advertising department at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. Mr. Reed was graduated from Purdue university, and is a mechanical engineer in the research laboratories of the Owens Glass company in Newark.

D. Stuff, R. D. 2. The ceremony was performed by the bridegroom's aunt, Rev. Clara Conley, at her home, 65 South Willis avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Stuff are at home temporarily at the bride's home. He is employed as a painter.

ENTERTAIN.

Mr. and Mrs. Russel Rinehart were entertained at a dinner party given recently by Mrs. Rinehart's parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. B. Kent, R. D. 2. A wedding cake and cut flowers decorated the table at which 29 were served.

PLAY BRIDGE.

Bridge was in play at six tables when members of the American Legion Bridge club met yesterday at the home. Mrs. Hollis Moorhead and Mrs. Earl Saltzgaber were the contract winners, and Mrs. Christopher Geisel and Mrs. Herman Wentz won the auction prizes. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Ralph Schad and Mrs. Albert Cook in charge at the club rooms Sept. 3. Yesterday's hostesses were Mrs. C. H. Sanborn and Mrs. Carrie Timmons.

August Wedding Announced Today

Announcement was made today of the marriage of Miss Dorothy Kathryn Beck and Claude Owen Wert by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Beck, 346 Newman street. The ceremony was read at Russell, Ky., on Aug. 3. Mr. Wert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Wert, Greenwich. The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wert, brother and sister-in-law of the bridgroom.

The former Miss Beck is a graduate of the Mansfield Senior high school, and is employed in the office of Shaull-Mayberry and Balliett. Mr. Wert was graduated from the New London high school and is employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. Mr. and Mrs. Wert are now at home at the Newman street address.

ROUTINE SESSION.

There were 20 members of the Delano auxiliary present for the meeting held last night at the hall with Mrs. Willa Shay in charge. Mrs. Alva Harnley and Mrs. Bessie Ricks gave a report of the welfare work being planned this year by the group. The evening was spent socially. The next meeting will be held Sept. 3 at the hall.

FIRST PARTY FETES ESTHER JANE MAXWELL

Friends Entertain With Bathroom Shower for Bride-Elect of Glenn L. Heldenbrand; To Wed Sept. 1.

THE FIRST in a series of pre-nuptial parties honoring Miss Esther Jane Maxwell was given last night at the home of Mrs. Dwight Prosser, 1 Constance court. Mrs. Paul Bogner, Mrs. Steve Bogner and Miss Marie Ellen Campbell were the associate hostesses.

A bride's book was made during the evening, after which refreshments were served from a long table. The centerpiece was a glass arch decorated with pink and white sweet peas beneath which a miniature bridal pair were placed. Different articles for the medicine chest marked each place, and these, along with a shower of bathroom gifts were presented to the honoree. The hostesses gave Miss Maxwell a clothes hamper. Verses directed her to the various gifts.

There were two guests present, Miss Eleanor John and Mrs. Adam Takos. Another party will be given for Miss Maxwell Friday night at the Susie Janis home by Miss Betty Green.

Miss Maxwell will become the bride of Glenn L. Heldenbrand Sept. 1 at 3 o'clock before the altar of the First Congregational church, with Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger, pastor of the First Christian church, officiating.

Shopping Around...

With MARIANNE

WITH the opening of school just two weeks away, you'll want to get Junior and Sister all togged out for the opening sessions, and the downtown stores are well stocked to supply your needs. . . . If your young son is going to kindergarten or primary school, you'll find those jersey overalls to be ideal for classroom wear. . . . They can be obtained in rust, wine, teal and navy, and are especially attractive when combined with plain or striped shirts. . . . These come in sizes 1 to 4, while corduroy overalls are shown in sizes 3 to 8 in shades of navy, green, brown and wine.

Marianne

There are any number of styles of suits with short trousers for the young boy. . . . Flannel shorts with striped washable shirts are made in sizes from 3 to 8 and such colors as brown, green and navy. . . . And then the newest toddler suits feature corduroy shorts in turquoise, peach, navy and yellow, with white shantung blouses.

* * *

NOW if you have two young daughters in your family, you and they both will be delighted with the sister dresses—small ones ranging in size from 3 to 6, and larger ones fashioned in the same style from 7 to 14. . . . Made of polka-dotted wash material, they come in navy, skipper blue and wine and are trimmed with white ric-rac. . . . And if your daughter has one of these four-way two-tone dresses, she'll never tire of her wardrobe. . . . These two-piece dresses feature reversible skirts and blouses—one side in plain color, and the other side in print, so that they can be worn as an all print or an all plain colored dress, a plain skirt and printed blouse or vice versa. . . . The sizes are 7 to 14, and the colors are blue, wine, rust, red and green.

* * *

For cooler days and most all occasions, the young girl will find one of these washable corduroy suits to be just the thing. . . . A downtown store is showing skirts, blouses, lined jackets, butcher-boy style jackets and slacks in such soft tones as rose, pastel blue and green.

AND NOW to turn from the young frys' fashion notes to something new for Big Sister and Mamma, let's take a glance at Aquacade make-up. . . . An entirely different type of cosmetic manufactured by a long-famous woman cosmetician) it is waterproof and sunproof. . . . There's liquid as well as cream foundation in light and dark, and compressed powder in the same shades. . . . All of these items contain quite a bit of oil in the base to make them more lasting and to protect the skin from the drying rays of the sun. . . . Of course there's lipstick to blend with these light and dark shades, and then there's mascara too. . . . And one of the nicest features of the whole line is a hair oil which will keep your tresses soft and shining—preventing any dryness to result from too much sun. . . . The powder, cream and lipstick containers are all white with the gay little figure of an aquabelle in red and blue on the front. . . . These jars are very light in weight and waterproof so that they can be taken to the beach with ease. . . . And then the liquid products come in bottles that are designed not to slip from the fingers. . . . So all in all, you'll most likely be delighted with the entire line.

Note: The styles described above are available in Mansfield shops. You can learn where they may be obtained if you will telephone Marianne at The News-Journal between 1 and 2:30 p. m.—Canal 4251.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

LILLIAN'S reaction to my news was characteristically scoffing, and I remembered how skeptical of Edith's invalid state she had been since the first reappearance of Dicky's magazine partner into our lives.

"It's hard to be a lady, and say 'how terrible!'" she drawled, "yet I suppose that's the proper phraseology. But I can't help but think Ede may be bluffing allee samee she was when she sent you that weepy letter up in the mountains."

"I'm sure she's not," I said, and Katherine nodded corroboration.

"I haven't seen her except for a fleeting minute or two since she arrived," she said, and Lillian made her an airy little bow plainly intended to convey congratulations.

"You ought to be 'counting your marcies,'" she said, but Katherine ignored her persiflage.

"I shouldn't be at all surprised if Ede were actually trying to get out of the world," Katherine said. "After all, she's washed up, completely done for, and I imagine she has a lot on her conscience."

"Her what?" Lillian demanded truculently, but her accompanying grin eased my taut nerves—as I knew it was intended to do, and I spoke briskly.

"We can't help her now, no matter what we do—"

Eavesdropping?

"Especially by talking about her problems," Lillian interposed. "And you have to call that nurse at the appointed time. Ah thinks, mah sistahs, we'd best pick up our feetses and make tracks."

"Mine are already tracking," Katherine said, as Lillian turned and led the way down the stairs, with us close behind her. We found Katie in the hall outside the library door, dust cloths and dust mop in hand. As if the same thought had struck us all at once we eyed her carefully, wondering if she had "listened in" on our stairway colloquy. But as we had carried it on in extremely low tones, and as Katie's face held no avid yet shame-faced excitement—sure-fire signals that she has been eavesdropping—I decided that this time she was guiltless.

"Eferyting all clean!" Katie announced, proudly, beaming at us. "Me, I vac-u-um clean eferyting dees morning, so now I shoost doost und vipe floor, und she all ready for you, dees room, und dot leetle vun vere you goin' put dot Fairfax vomans."

Her voice, as she uttered the last three words, fairly sputtered venom, but I carefully ignored her tone in my quick reply.

"Thank you, Katie," I said gravely. "Put your things away, and then come back here."

"Okay," she said with the toss of the head she always gives at dismissal, and bearing her cleaning utensils with her she went down the hall toward the kitchen.

"I'm betting she didn't hear anything," Lillian said as soon as my faithful but curious housekeeper was out of hearing.

"I'm sure she didn't," I said, and Katherine added, "her face told that," before she turned to me.

"Did I hear our Katie aright?" she asked. "You're putting Ede in your study with Miss Whitlock?"

"Yes. I thought that would be best," I returned.

"Oh! but surely," she assented. "But may I suggest that we get that room ready first? Then Miss Whitlock can get her down here before dark if she thinks it better to do so."

"Of course," I said, and with Katie's return punctuating my words, we worked swiftly and effectively for two hours, broken only by a trip to my room to waken Miss Whitlock, who reported her patient still asleep.

We barely had finished, and were satisfiedly surveying the "dormitory" into which we had transformed the library, when the telephone shrilled, and Katie answered it, coming back with a look of importance on her face.

"Eet head master of boys' school," she said. "He vant talk to Meester Graham."

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Tyrone Power, wearing black tights, black boots, black hat and black mustache, is doing a job he never did before.

He has played Jesse James, and deLesseps, and a pioneer with Brigham Young, and except for Don Ameche he looks more the way historical characters are supposed to look than any other young man in the movies.

But now he's playing Doug Fairbanks, senior. Rather, he's playing against the fan memory of Doug as he was in one of his jumpingest, jitteriest silent epics, "The Mark of Zorro."

They're calling it "The Californian" now, and they've streamlined the story, but that's what it is—good old Zorro, the Robin Hood of early Los Angeles, when the fifth city was a pueblo and scarcely a dot in the mind of Mother Spain.

Ty hasn't reached the fence-leaping stage yet. "That's still to come," he says. "Right now I'm bothered by the fencing."

Rouben Mamoulian is directing "The Californian." "The Mark of Zorro" was the first movie he saw when he went to London some 20 years ago from his native Tiflis. He saw the movie again the other day. It may be crude by today's standards, he reports, but the "psychological thrill" still is there and the picture doesn't suffer. The new version, he says, will have its athletic, acrobatic business toned down.

* * *

There'll be another difference, according to Ernesto A. Romero, technical adviser. Romero, for 12 years attached to the Mexican consulate here, knows how movies with Latin American locales should be made.

"Once Hollywood paid no attention to such details as costuming, furnishings, accents when it made pictures of South of Central America," Romero says. "Latin Americans laughed at or resented Hollywood's pictures of themselves.

"Today every care is taken to assure authenticity. This setting, the home and patio of the Alcalde of old Los Angeles, is a beautiful example. We take some dramatic license, but we take none with details of wardrobe, settings and speech. Every Spanish word spoken by the players, to give flavor to their speeches in English, will be pronounced correctly, and Latin Americans will appreciate it."

The leading lady is Linda Darnell. The day I was on the set she walked in, informally slacked and bloused. Mamoulian took one look at her hands, and delivered a paternal lecture.

"Linda," he said, "in a few days we shoot you at prayer. Your hands must be clasped, and you must look as beautiful as a painting by an old master. But the audience will look at your hands and it will say, 'Ah, Linda has been biting her nails again!'"

"I'll use fake nails," Linda promised Mamoulian.

TAKING OUT DOUBLES

We all get a good laugh from the jokes about taking out business doubles, as if that were the worst possible thing anybody can do during the bidding. It is, a good deal of the time. But there are plenty of occasions on which the leaving in of such a double amounts almost to high treason. This is especially true when you are utterly void of the suit doubled and possession great distributional values elsewhere in your hand, about which your partner does not yet know.

	♠ A Q ♥ None ♦ A J 7 3 ♣ 10 9 8 6 5 4 2
♠ J 9 8 2 ♥ None ♦ K Q 10 9 8 6 5 4 2 ♣ None	N. W. E. S.	♠ 10 7 5 3 ♥ A K 10 9 6 5 4 2 ♦ None ♣ A
	♠ K 6 4 ♥ Q J 8 7 3 ♦ None ♣ K Q J 7 3

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	2 ♦	Dbl	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	6 ♣	Dbl

At one table of a duplicate game, the bidding started as given, but South passed the business double of 2-Diamonds. There the club 10 was led, the A winning and west discarded a spade. The heart K was ruffed by the diamond 3. North then led the spade A and Q, switching to a club for West to ruff. Later the spade K and two diamond tricks enabled the defenders to set the contract one trick, for a score of 200.

Where South took out the business double, the side negotiated its small slam successfully, thanks to a gorgeous cross-ruff which North could foresee as soon as South-bid clubs. The only trick lost was to the club A.

South's takeout of the business double was very sound bridge, with his blank in diamonds and his second suit to show, especially since his hand was not the kind which could do its share of work in defensive play, but was strong offensively.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, August 22

A LIVELY and particularly active day is promised by the astral auguries, with an expansive as well as stabilizing force making for progress in almost any channel of well directed and intelligent application. All pertaining to writings, publishing, publicity and promotions, with probably some short journeys in relation to making new contracts or contacts.

Those whose birthday it is may count on a particularly interesting and lively year, with business, especially such as involve writings, advertising correspondence, promotional enterprises, moving at high tempo. Short journeys are in order, for putting over new business and making new acquaintances. Be ready with finesse in dealing with opposition; jealousy and personal extravagance are taboo.

A child born on this day should be versatile, with a brilliant as well as shrewd and stable mentality, although having artistic and literary ambitions. It should have a fair success in its chosen profession.

Veal chops have an interesting new flavor when prepared like this: Pour about half a cup of French dressing into a shallow dish. Soak a garlic clove in the dressing for 5 minutes and then discard the clove. Dip 6 veal chops into the dressing and broil them or cook for 15 minutes in a small amount of fat placed in a frying pan. Turn frequently to allow even cooking. Serve with broiled tomatoes, corn on the cob, a green salad or a melon or some frozen or gelatin dessert and you have a distinctive meal that's not ben difficult to prepare.

CHAPTER XXIII

"I mentioned, darling," she said, "that I detected the odor of fish in this little stunt staged by your devoted sister. You caught the trend of my talk with Gordon? Well, Clara handed him a note purporting to be from you. It asked him to take Clara to meet you at the Penguin. Being a nice guy who doesn't look for bent pins on chair seats, he took it for granted the note was genuine and obeyed orders. Of all the—"

"Bruce is coming here?" Marilyn rushed for Kathleen and gave her an embrace that brought a squeak for help.

"He sure is." Kathleen recovered her squeezed-out breath. "Better powder your nose and comb back your hair and break out a nip of perfume. You aren't looking exactly your best, if you don't mind my saying so."

When the buzzer sounded Kathleen said, "I'm going into the next room and close the door tight. But remember, my friend, I'll be there, and if you shirk on this job of putting Clara in her place and making Bruce Gordon understand what you're up against, I'll fling wide the portal and take over the job myself."

"Kathie, you don't understand. Clara is my sister. Have you a sister?"

"No, thank heaven! She might be like Clara. You haven't a sister either. Not a real one. Just an accident of birth. I'm your sister you didn't know about until you came to New York. Buck up, Lynn. We're young. There's a long life ahead of us."

Marilyn opened the door.

"Bruce!"

"Lynn!"

Silence.

Behind the closed door in the other room Kathleen said, "It takes better than a poison pen to lick Joyce."

Despite the threat of Clara, whose jealousy of her sister had become a real phobia and whose greed for attention and for pleasure might turn her into a front page sensation, Marilyn approached her work at Clarco this morning with a light heart and a firm determination. Bruce Gordon had not broken his appointment with her the night before, deliberately. Clara had been up to one of her tricks, bolder than most. She had gained admission to his apartment by telling his man that Bruce had asked her to wait there for him and to make herself at home in case he was delayed. Bruce had found her there, much to his astonishment, when he returned to his quarters to dress for dinner. Clara handed him the note that purported to be from Marilyn actually she had written it herself—and she was so apologetic about her own intrusion into the party, so flattering in praise of her sister, that Bruce had not questioned her purpose.

He had gone with Clara to the Penguin expecting to meet Marilyn. Finally, as it grew late and she did not arrive, Bruce became suspicious. Clara insisted, "Lynn probably changed her mind, found something better to do." Finally Bruce excused himself and telephoned Lynn's apartment only to find the note was a hoax and Clara's part in it another of her schemes for besting her sister.

At first Clara had refused to leave the Penguin with him on the plea that he had brought her there and now had an idea he could break up her evening. She even threatened a scene. When she saw her threat was futile she agreed to go quietly if Bruce would drop her at the Blue Parrot. Here Clara indulged another of her tantrums. She refused to get out of the taxi. Bruce paid the driver and left her there, in front of the gay nighterie where she was booked to appear in the beauty line of the floor show. He went straight to find Marilyn and to explain what had happened.

"It can never happen again," he said, his gray eyes cold steel. "I'll be waiting for Clara the next time she starts practicing pranks on you, Lynn, or on me. And don't look so downcast. We're here and Clara is probably taking her bows in the Blue Parrot; all's well that ends well."

They parted on that note so when Marilyn received a memo at her desk in the Clarco offices the next morning, she attacked her assignment with a will. Within an hour, her copy was on its way to the first reading. She was making ready to go to lunch with Kathleen, when a boy stopped at her desk with another memo. Two of the three slogans she had sent along that morning had been accepted! She was to see Miss Cook immediately after the lunch hour.

"Two out of three!" Kathleen was jubilant when Marilyn told her the news. "Darling, that's hitting on all cylinders. One out of 30 is mighty good, but two out of three is tremendous! What on earth happened to you? Were you hit over the head by an inspiration?"

"No, I just felt—well—like doing things and going places. I can't tell you why—perhaps it is because I'm not so afraid of my own shadow, or of any shadow that crosses my path. When you go on doing your best in your work, being as kind and as helpful to others as you know how, I guess things can't go wrong for you. People may try to hurt you, but they only succeed in hurting themselves."

"Meaning your sister's contemptible trick to take over Bruce Gordon?"
